

Heaviest Snowfall Of Winter Dumps Up To 8 Inches Across County; Keep Roads Open

With spring only 10 days away the heaviest snowfall of the winter was dumped on Gettysburg and Adams County overnight, giving state Highway Department crews their biggest snow removal job since March of last year.

Gettysburg measured about six inches of the white stuff with flurries continuing through the morning. In the mountains the depth reached eight inches.

The snow was neither as wet nor as deep as that of last March 20 and 21 when it reached a depth of 12 inches in Gettysburg and brought down power and telephone lines by the hundreds, cutting off power to thousands of homes and business places and closing schools for the second time that winter.

Highways were kept open through Wednesday night by snow removal crews that started work at 6:30 p.m., Superintendent Clyde O. Garber said. Two graders and 24 trucks handled by 62 men plowed snow all night and continued through this morning.

Eleven other trucks and 30 men were engaged in spreading chips and calcium chloride, now used generally instead of cinders, on hills, curves, at intersections and grade crossings.

Main roads were kept open and the only place traffic experienced real difficulty was on Route 15 south of here where a number of heavy trucks had trouble climbing snowy hills and help up traffic for a time. Temperatures here did not go below 27 degrees during the night and many highways were inclined to be slushy rather than icy, aiding the snow removal work.

Utilities Escape Damage

Plows this morning turned to removal on secondary roads. They are open and rapidly being cleared of snow.

Some slight drifting was reported in the mountains but was not serious.

Utility companies said the snow has not caused any serious damage to lines, a pleasant contrast to last March's snow which caused the most severe damage to utility lines encountered in decades.

First "Real Snow"

Today's snow was the first "real snow" of the winter. November and December escaped with flurries. January snows totaled only 3.3 inches here and last month had a total of two inches in two snowfalls.

Bus lines were not encountering any serious trouble keeping on schedule today but a bus from Washington reported the road "bad" between Gettysburg and Emmitsburg.

"Old man winter reminded Pennsylvania today that he still has plenty of punch left, although spring is only 10 days off."

Snow fell throughout the state during the night, but changed to a cold rain mixed with sleet early today in many sections. Both rain and snow were expected to end throughout Pennsylvania by late this afternoon, except for scattered flurries.

It was still snowing hard this morning, however, in northern and central Pennsylvania. Erie reported five inches of new snow; Altoona, seven; Bradford and Phillipsburg, eight; Williamsport, six, and Harrisburg, five.

In both Pittsburgh, with five inches, and Philadelphia, with one, the early morning rain helped wash away the snow.

Most secondary roads were reported hazardous. The Pennsylvania Turnpike was snow and ice covered, but crews kept it cleared.

Warner Hospital Is Accredited

The Warner Hospital here is among those in the annual list of accredited hospitals in the U. S., its possessions and Canada, published this month by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals.

About 7,000 hospitals are eligible for accreditation. Of these, more than 4,500 have applied for accreditation surveys and about 75 per cent have been accredited, according to Dr. Kenneth B. Babcock, Commission director, who notes that accreditation "is a mark of distinction and earned by high standards of care."

The Joint Commission is an agency established by five organizations, the American College of Physicians, American College of Surgeons, American Hospital Association, American Medical Association and Canadian Medical Association.

Accreditation by the commission is given those hospitals which voluntarily submit to a survey and which meet the commission's standards.

52 PETITIONS ON FILE WITH 4 DAYS TO GO

The Adams County election board is hoping at least 234 petitions for places on the May ballot will be filed with it by Monday so the ballot will at least have candidates for all offices when it is presented to the public. Monday is the last day for filing such petitions.

County voters are scheduled to nominate 286 candidates—half of them Democrats, half Republicans, at the forthcoming primary election on May 19.

With only four days remaining for the filing of petitions only 52 petitions had been received, four for county office and 48 for local offices up to Wednesday afternoon.

10 County Offices

Each party will nominate two candidates for county commissioner, one each for district attorney, register and recorder, coroner and surveyor and two candidates each for county auditor.

In each district in the county, each party will name an auditor for six years and in most districts a school director will be elected. Gettysburg will elect three.

This year marks the start of the turnover of the Upper Adams School District from a jointure, with 30 directors, to a merged unit with seven directors. The changeover will be completed in six years.

Change In Upper Adams

As a result of the change approved by the Upper Adams populace last fall, there will be no election for school director in Arendtsville, Bendersville, Biglerville and Tyrone Twp. this year. There will, however, be an election for one director in Menallen and one in Butler Twp. Those two men in a sense will become the first elected directors of the new merged Upper Adams system.

The unusual school director voting situation in the Upper Adams area comes about as a result of the need for seven directors from six districts. Eventually each district will have one director elected by it, while the seventh will be elected at large. A staggered system of naming new directors has

LOCAL GRAD TO PREACH ABROAD

A 1930 graduate of Gettysburg College will be a member of a team of 11 American clergymen selected by the National Council of Churches to serve in the annual Interchange of Preachers Program with the British Council of Churches next summer. He is the Rev. Alton M. Lotter, co-pastor of Messiah Lutheran Church, Denver, Colo., and a graduate of the Gettysburg Seminary in 1933 where he also earned his S.T.M. degree in 1944.

The national church councils of the United States and England have cooperated in the interchange plan for a number of years as a means of establishing deeper lines of understanding between church leaders of the two English-speaking countries.

Each year approximately 10 American ministers preach in pulpits in Britain and Scotland while an equal number of English preachers speak in American pulpits. Clergymen selected must be approved by their denominational bodies and the national church councils of both countries.

The Rev. Mr. Lotter was formerly executive director of the Chicago Sunday Evening Club and headed the public relations program of the Evanston, Ill., Assembly of the World Council of Churches in 1954.

He has just edited a third book, "Preaching the Resurrection," a volume of Easter sermons.

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Damascus students demonstrated against Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem today as the feud between Kassem and President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic got hotter.

Taking their cue from Nasser's bitter speech Wednesday, the Cairo press branded Kassem a Communist agent.

Schoolgirls in black and white uniforms hoisted big U.A.R. flags and marched to the presidential residence where Nasser is staying. A pupil with pink ribbons tied to her pigtailed led classmates in chants denouncing Kassem and proclaiming Arab solidarity.

Laud Rebel Leader

Older students converged on Nasser's headquarters as anti-Kassem fever mounted. Cairo papers pinned the hero label on the leader of the brief, abortive army revolt in Iraq. Col. Abdel Wahab Shawaf, who, Baghdad reported, was slain.

WOMAN'S CLUB TOLD OF SILVER ART, HISTORY

The "Art and History of Silver" was outlined Wednesday afternoon by Charles C. Stieff, vice president of the Stieff Co. of Baltimore, at the meeting of the Woman's Club of Gettysburg at the YWCA. Stieff told the group: "Man probably made the first spoon shortly after he discovered the use of fire and burned his fingers trying to lift some soup out of a pot with a shell."

Wood and bone were used for the first spoons, he said. In early Egypt, ivory spoons were used. In the tombs of the Pharaohs excellent examples of spoons made from silver and gold have been found, Stieff said. He termed the spoons used by the Greeks and Romans as "beautiful in design but awkward to handle."

"In early England, spoons were made from wood and we get our word 'spoon,' meaning a splinter of wood."

Many Types Of Spoons

"By the middle ages, the end of the spoon handle was thickened and carved and a very popular set of spoons in the 15th century was a set of 13, depicting at the end of the handle each of the Apostles and Christ. A folding spoon was introduced in the 15th century. By 1700 a very plain Puritan spoon was introduced and used in great numbers."

"The rat tail spoon was of the type not known as the Williams spoon. It was fashioned from two pieces, the bowl and the handle. When the two were joined a piece of metal, known as and looking something like a rat tail, extended from the handle down across the bottom of the bowl of the spoon to give it additional strength."

"By the beginning of the 19th century the porridge spoon, for use in eating porridge, and the Christening spoon, a gift to be given at baptism, were popular. Another spoon made at that time was a marrow spoon, a double headed spoon used to get the marrow out of bones."

Fork 200 Years Old

"The knife first appears in ancient history as a weapon rather than as an article of table use. At first stone was used, then iron and copper. The Chinese are the oldest users of a metal knife, using a copper knife in trading. The Greeks were the first to use a knife at the table. By the 15th century Sheffield in England had discovered the method of tempering steel and revolutionized knife making. A popular set at the time consisted of three knives, one large, two small, about the size of today's paring knife."

"The fork did not come into general use for eating until about

Students Denounce Iraq's Red Premier; Nasser Feud With Kassem Getting 'Hot'

"The world," said Al Ahrum, "has witnessed the true face of Kassem, another face of (former Iraqi Premier) Nuri Said, a dis-paid agent just as Nuri was."

This was a pointed reminder of the days before Kassem's forces overthrew the pro-Western Nuri West had its money on Nuri and the Soviet Union was backing Nasser for the leadership of the Arab world. Now the Communists were on Kassem's side and Nasser was blasting them.

Split With Reds

There was a sharp split between the Communists in Iraq and Moscow, however. The Iraqi Reds accused Nasser of fomenting the revolt. Moscow was trying to blame the West, but the Soviet propaganda did not appear to be having much effect on the dis-pants."

The U.A.R. retorted to Iraqi about the reported attack by Iraqi fighters Tuesday on the Syrian border village of Hamoudiya. The planes had been reported strafing

DIRECTORS SEE FILM ON EASTER SEAL RESULTS

Dr. M. R. Hamsher, Gettysburg R. 2, who is directing the current Easter Seal sale for the Adams County Crippled Children's Society, was elected by the board of directors of the county society Wednesday afternoon at the county representative on the board of directors of the state Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

Most of the meeting time was given over to a showing of the 25-minute film, "Reach for Tomorrow," made by the national crippled children's society. It showed the program of treatment and rehabilitation for crippled children and adults carried on across the nation and included the summer camping program at one of Pennsylvania's summer camps for crippled children.

Margaret Miller, a camper last summer from Adams County; a 10-year-old boy on crutches who hopes to go to the summer camps this year, and parents of two other crippled youngsters who hope they may be selected for summer camping also were guests at the board meeting to see the film.

There was also a report from the seal sale chairman, Dr. Hamsher, who could not attend the meeting.

The sessions will be at Eisenhower's retreat in the Catoctin Mountains near Thurmont, Md.

Announcing this today, the White House said the President and Macmillan probably will be at the lodge for at least three days—through March 22.

Hagerly said Eisenhower is hopeful that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, still in a hospital for radiation treatment for cancer, will be able to participate.

Eisenhower's lodge, situated about 65 miles north of Washington, is known as Camp David. It was named by the President for both his father and his 10-year-old grandson.

Beggars in Bombay learned a lesson from little ants recently. They noticed that the offerings of sugar at a temple by devout people were gradually and mysteriously disappearing.

They finally discovered a long line of ants carrying the sugar away, grain by grain, to a giant ant-hill some distance away.

Impressed by what one little ant could do, the beggars decided to show similar enterprise. Each found a job for himself on a nearby construction project.

What one person accomplishes may seem insignificant. But it is important in the sight of God. Never underestimate the power for good which one individual like yourself can exert, with the Lord's help, for the good of everybody.

The Philadelphia Inquirer recently published the following paragraph: "The simple truth is, of course, that business and industry create all the wealth our country has. Whether the wealth creator is Du Pont, or General Electric or Bill Smith's corner delicatessen shop, it helps to provide the jobs and pay the wages that keep us all going—and make possible the tax returns without which our government couldn't function."

Plan Holiday Gov. William F. Quinn arrived in Washington by air too late to witness the Senate vote.

At an impromptu celebration in the old Supreme Court chamber of the Capitol, Quinn thanked Senate leaders for their vote of confidence in Hawaii's people.

"Hawaii," he said, "has a destiny in the Pacific and a mission to accomplish. We are conscious of that mission and will do our utmost to carry it out."

News of the Senate vote reached the islands at mid-afternoon and was greeted with joy.

Acting Gov. Edward E. Johnston proclaimed a two-day holiday to start the moment the House passes the statehood bill.

Star Doesn't Fear Benefit Audiences

NEW YORK (AP)—Celeste Holm is one star who doesn't fear audiences at benefit performances. They are showings of Broadway plays at which large blocs of tickets are bought by an organization and then resold at a premium as a means of raising funds.

Although such audiences are traditionally regarded by performers as hard to please, Miss Holm regards them as a challenge.

Everyone knows everyone else and I sort of play to a couple of the leaders of the benefit group," she explains.

"When I get them I've got the group."

Blonde Celeste is appearing on Broadway this season in "Third Best Street."

Exuberant Hawaiians Send 600 Leis To Congressmen

HONOLULU (AP) — Exuberant Hawaiians air-expressed 600 leis to Washington for members of Congress today after Senate passage of the Hawaii statehood bill.

The flowers were sent to Territorial Delegate John A. Burns, who will present them Friday on behalf of the Hawaii Legislature.

Territorial Gov. William F. Quinn flew to the nation's capital for the big occasion.

Acting Gov. Edward E. Johnston proclaimed a two-day holiday throughout the islands to start immediately after Congress completes passage of the bill.

"Wonderful News" His proclamation said passage of Hawaiian statehood would mean the culmination of patient striving and the long-nurtured hopes of Hawaiians.

Senate passage of the bill Wednesday was greeted joyously. After receiving the word by telephone from Washington, Johnston exclaimed: "It's wonderful news!"

The Honolulu Star-Bulletin hit the streets with an extra and radio stations interrupted programs to broadcast the news.

In anticipation of the House completing approval of the measure, preparations were rushed for fireworks and celebrations. Hawaiian Airlines planned to fly flags with 50 stars and flash the word to its pilots in flight for passengers' information.

The occasion was the funeral of a Communist leader, Kamel Kazangi, whose death was blamed on pro-Nasser Arab nationalists in the center of the revolt.

Troops guarded the deserted U.A.R. Embassy in Baghdad. Kassem expelled nine members of its staff Tuesday after his forces put down the revolt.

SEAWAY RATES SET; PAY DEBT IN FIFTY YEARS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Canada today announced St. Lawrence Seaway tolls designed to pay off the construction debt of the huge waterway in 50 years.

The rates are the same as those presented in tentative form last June. At the time, shipping circles said the tolls were somewhat lower than they had expected.

The charges are less than those levied on vessels passing through the Suez and Panama canals.

Open Next Month The seaway, which cost about $51 million dollars, will be opened to traffic next month. The minimum depth of the channel between Montreal and Lake Erie is 27 feet. The old channel minimum depth was 14 feet.

Under the toll schedule a ship moving through the entire seaway will pay 6 cents for each gross registered ton of the vessel. One registered ton is figured as 100 cubic feet.

In addition, a toll of 42 cents a ton will be charged on bulk cargo and 95 cents on each ton of general cargo.

For each passage between Montreal and Lake Ontario, the basic charge will be 4 cents a registered ton plus 40 cents on each ton of bulk cargo and 90 cents for general cargo.

Short Trip Rates If a ship travels only part way between Montreal and Lake Ontario, the charge will be 15 per cent of the toll for a full transit for each of the seven locks used.

Tolls also will be imposed for the first time on ships using the Welland Canal which bypasses Niagara Falls between Lake Ontario and Lake Erie.

Vessels will be charged 2 cents for each gross registered ton plus 2 cents on each ton of bulk cargo and 5 cents on general cargo. If a ship does not complete a

SAY TIPSTAFF SPOKE TO JURY

NORRISTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Two jurors who convicted Mrs. Ethel Kravitz of murdering her wealthy husband say a court aide discussed the case with the jury during the trial.

But they could not recall, specifically, what the tipstaff, Robert Evans, said.

The two — Carl Hunsicker, of Jeffersonville, and Mrs. Kathryn Adams, of Royerford — testified Wednesday before four Montgomery County judges investigating allegations of misconduct by Evans during the December murder trial.

Attorneys for Mrs. Kravitz are seeking a new trial or arrest of judgment, basing their plea in part on Evans' alleged improper behavior.

On Dec. 12 a jury of eight women and four men convicted the 46-year-old Mrs. Kravitz of second degree murder for the killing of her husband, Max, a real estate dealer, in their Wynnewood home last July 4.

MISS BERGMAN GIVEN CUSTODY OF 3 CHILDREN

ROME (AP) — A Rome court today provisionally awarded actress Ingrid Bergman chief custody of the three children born to her and film director Roberto Rossellini.

The ruling, described as provisional pending a final decision, said Rossellini should have certain visiting rights and holiday company of the children.

The children — Roberto and twin girls, Isotta and Isabella — are with their mother in France, where a Paris court previously granted her custody. The legal effect of the Rome court order thus is debatable. Rossellini filed the action.

Neither Rossellini nor Miss Bergman, now the wife of Swedish businessman Lars Schmidt, attended the hearing. Both were in Paris.

Another Suit Pending Still pending in a Rome court is a final decision on Rossellini's suit for annulment of his Mexican proxy marriage with Miss Bergman.

The suit, which was not contested by Miss Bergman, affirmed that at the time of the wedding she was still legally the wife of Dr. Peter Lindstrom of Los Angeles.

A Rome court granted Rossellini an annulment last July, but an appeal was filed by the state's prosecutor.

Miss Bergman married Schmidt in London last December.

STALEMATE CONTINUES AT CHICAGO

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball's strangest stalemate continued today with the self-styled boss of the Chicago White Sox ignoring the man who just assumed control of the club, or thought he did.

Bill Veeck, who Tuesday bought 54 per cent of the club, said he would visit Comiskey Park for the second consecutive day with hopes of an official get-together with Vice President Chuck Comiskey.

Comiskey hastily departed the ball park Wednesday just as Veeck and his top associate, Hank Greenberg, arrived for a first look at "what we bought."

Comiskey didn't even return a distant wave by Greenberg from in front of the park where he and Veeck were being photographed. Chuck said if his path crossed

News Briefs

BROADBEACH, Australia (AP) — Australia and the Soviet Union appeared to be patching up diplomatic relations broken off in 1954 when runaway Soviet spy Vladimir Petrov was given political asylum here.

Australian Foreign Minister Richard G. Casey and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Nikolai Firiyubin met for 45 minutes in a hotel room after sitting side by side at a luncheon.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo.), hospitalized after collapsing in a hotel room, was reported resting comfortably today.

TARENTUM, Pa. (AP) — Richard H. Fisher, 75, of Vandergrift, hit by a car last Thursday, died today in Allegheny Valley Hospital.

Veeck's, he'd talk with him, but not on Sox business. "I'm not officially or unofficially notified by a bona fide Sox officer yet that my sister's (Dorothy's) stock has been sold," said Chuck. "I don't know what position Veeck holds." Veeck has announced that John Rigney, Dorothy's husband and the other Sox vice president, appointed him and Greenberg "executive assistants."

Up until now, Comiskey has been handling all front office preparations for the 1959 Sox season.

Until Chuck's appeal is heard in Circuit Court on a Probate Court ruling last week which permitted Dorothy to sell to Veeck, Rigney appears cast in a role of liaison man between Chuck and Bill. The appeal may not be heard for several weeks.

ERNIE BANKS NOT WORRIED ABOUT SEASON

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — Ernie Banks, a fellow who could probably relax falling down an elevator shaft, is not at all worried about what to do for an encore after his great 1958 season.

"I'll feel very fortunate if I can just play 154 games this year," the soft-spoken Chicago shortstop said during a dugout chat at the Cubs' spring training base.

"I'm not bothered at all about whether I'll have another season like the last one."

Banks was named Most Valuable Player in the National League last year after he hit 47 homers, drove in 129 runs and batted .313. This naturally made him one of the stars of the winter banquet circuit.

But after putting away all that food, he was still trim, so he didn't have to run through any special exercises.

Ernie was asked how a fellow of his lean construction manages to hit the ball so far so often.

"I never concentrate on hitting the ball out of the park. I just go for the base hits."

All committee chairmen are asked to meet with Mrs. Paul Reaser and executive secretary, Mrs. Ralph Heim, on Friday at 1:30 p.m. or at 7 p.m.

Out Of The Past

From the Files of the Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times

TWENTY YEARS AGO
J. W. Kandlehart Named County Superintendent of Highways: State Secretary of Highways I. Lamont Hughes told The Gettysburg Times by telephone this afternoon that he has appointed J. William Kandlehart Jr., 210 Baltimore street, for the position of maintenance superintendent of highways for Adams County.

Mr. Kandlehart, who is understood to have had the backing of the republican patronage board of Adams county for the position, has had 14 years of experience in the state Highway department.

$500,000 Being Spent For Spring Building Program In The County: Hundred of thousands of dollars are being spent in Adams county this spring in one of the most extensive building programs by private individuals, and concerns, religious organizations, business and the state that the county has seen in many years. A survey of current and contemplated construction work places the estimate at close to a half million dollars.

Largest among the enterprises are the $500,000 state highway garage being built just west of here along the Fairfield road; the new parochial school under construction in McSherrystown; the new Catholic high school for McSherrystown, plans for which are being drawn; a $75,000 expenditure for changes in the Eagle hotel property; improvements to the new Elks' property in York street expected to cost about $30,000; and a $25,000 addition to the St. Francis Xavier parochial school here.

There are dozens of smaller buildings and dwelling houses already underway or listed for early attention with the opening up of spring weather.

Streams To Be Watched Until Trout Season: For the protection of game fish in county streams until the season opens, the members of Adams County Fish and Game association reported today they have placed on duty a special deputy-fish warden to patrol the streams, especially stocked dams, until April 15 when the trout fishing season starts.

Employment of the special deputy followed action taken Friday evening at the regular March meeting of the association at Mrs. Smith's restaurant. President John Fidler, Biglerville, presided with about 60 members in attendance.

The sportsmen were shown a 4½ pound sucker caught Friday by George Miller, Gettysburg, at Marsh Creek Heights. It is said to be one of the largest fish of its kind taken in the county in years.

87 Admitted To Fraternities At Gettysburg: With the initiation of 87 pledges into the 11 fraternities and two sororities at Gettysburg college today the fourth annual inter-fraternity week-end celebration will be brought to a close.

The program of events opened Friday evening with a banquet in the Hotel Gettysburg for the collegians who were ledged to the fraternities.

The speaker at the banquet was Dr. Carl E. Marquardt, college examiner of Pennsylvania State college, who traced the development of fraternities since 1776.

Today's Talk

OURSELVES IN OTHERS

One of the finest books of essays I know anything about is "Dreamthorp" by Alexander Smith. I have read it over and over again. The author once said that the only fame he cared for was to be "occasionally quoted." So I do this. He said: "Love and friendship are the discoveries of ourselves in others, and our delight in the recognition."

Because of this thought, whenever we lose a friend we lose something of ourselves, and a feeling of loneliness shadows our days, often extending far into our lives. We become a living part of others. It is to be hoped it is always the best part of us that is absorbed, and spread around!

We must never forget that influence is something full of power, and so we should keep reminding ourselves that we ought to give out the best that we have within us, for this in itself creates the love and friendship of others toward us. It is a wonderful thing to have a good influence on others, and so to invite the influence of others on us.

Under the glass of my business desk are these words: "To leave Hawaii is to die a little." Beautiful things and events live long in the memory. They never really leave us. They become the invisible angels of our better selves. It is in a satisfied mood that we go to our home at the close of the work day. Especially if we have done something that has helped to make that day notable for someone else. How eager so many are to be encouraged and appreciated. It's such an easy and kindly way to help another up!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "To Pioneer" — Protected, 1959, by The George Matthews Adams Service

Just Folks

THE WORLD AND YOU
The world isn't all that it ought to be,
You cry in your dismal way,
And men that are selfishly strong
You see
Overpowering the weak today.
The hopeful go down into deep despair,
The false often hides the true,
And men seem to profit by means unfair,
But what of yourself? Can you really swear
You do all that you ought to do?

You whimper because of one faithful friend,
You yell that the world is bad
Because into vice a few descend,
And you are not always glad.
You picture the crimes that a few commit
And dwell on the wrong you see,
You point out posts the disloyal quit
And you jeer at them. But do you submit
That you are all that you ought to be?

There's wrong in the world; there is hatred, too,
There are vicious men here and vile,
But numberless men are staunch and true,
And millions there are who smile.
So turn your eyes to the good that's here,
Unbowed by power or pelf,
And bear in mind when you start to jeer
Your record, perhaps, isn't wholly clear;

You have a few faults yourself.

The proposed ordinance, drawn by fire underwriters, promises a reduction of from 25 cents to $1 a year in fire insurance rates on the average town home, council was told, but the question was raised whether that advantage would balance the demands made by the ordinance, described as "more drastic" in some respects than the current regulations.

Ancient, Decayed Structure Makes New Building For Men At County Home A Necessity: The men's building at the Adams County home is no longer fit for the habitation of the men, and it cannot be successfully repaired.
That is the opinion of those who have been in charge of the home over the last few years and it is the opinion of a Gettysburg Times reporter who has just completed a tour of inspection conducted by the farm's steward, Calvin R. Smith, and Edgar K. Markey, attorney for the county commissioners.

For the last ten years the steward and the county commissioners have been struggling against heavy odds to keep the building in at least half-decent condition. But the struggle is failing. Despite the best and continued efforts there is little that can be done to stop the slow decay of the building. Built either in 1818 when the first buildings were erected at the farm or in 1834, when other structures were added,

"DON'T PANIC, OLD MAN!"

By Van Varner

For weeks the weather had been raw with fierce temperatures and heavy snowfalls. Finally, alarmed and fearful, Harold Simonds called the Michigan State Police.

"My father is missing. His name is Herman Simonds. He and my mother live on a farm near Gregory, O. N. November 18, he headed north on a camping trip, alone, saying he'd be back December 1st. He's eight days overdue."

Then he called the Conservation Department at Manistique, told them, too, how his father had left in his ¼-ton truck which he had converted into a house car for such trips. He was 65 years old, used a cane because of the crippling arthritis in his legs, but was accustomed to venturing off alone.

After 55 years of hunting and fishing in the wild, unpopulated reaches of Michigan's Upper Peninsula, the old man knew his way. But just where he could have gone in that vast wilderness of tangled treacherous bogs, no one could even guess.

Only One Man Knows
Throughout the whole unsuccessful search, only one person in the world knew about the one-man fight then being waged. That was Herman Simonds himself.

On November 19, Herman Simonds sat in the cab of his truck and tugged at his chin in indecision.

"Well, Old Man," he said to himself, "where now?"

Retired after 40 years as a New York Central engineer, he could wander at leisure. He had his guns in tow, but he didn't really hunt any more; these days he went forth simply to enjoy nature.

He thought about Scott's, the site of a tiny lumbering camp now in ruins. Once a railroad had touched there to transport timber, but the rails and ties had long since been removed, leaving only a grading which the forest was reclaiming. A stanch vehicle could travel it however, and he thought he'd have a go at it.

Murky Swampland
Driving past Scott's, he found the grading and pushed deep into the interior, murky swampland on both sides and trees bowing over him. At a little island clearing, he camped and crawled into his bunk.

It snowed during the night, a deep snow, 12 inches of it. Next morning he started driving, but snow kept tumbling from branches, blinding the windshield. He got out and shook the trees ahead with his cane, then started up again, only to slide into a deep hole, his wheels spinning futilely without traction.

Hours were consumed in adjusting chains and working the truck free, and then it was showing again. Any progress at all required clearing the path first because he had to be sure of the trail or risk slipping helplessly into the swamp.

All too suddenly, darkness came, and he realized that after an entire day's labor he had gained no more than a matter of yards.

450 Miles from Home
Then it came upon him for sure. He was snowbound. He was 450 miles from home; nobody knew where he was, and nobody would be worried about him for some time to come. Over his stove that night, he faced the situation squarely. "Don't panic, Old Man! No sense in that. God gives you eyes so you can enjoy His beautiful world. But He also gives you brains and muscles. It's your own fault if you don't use them, so stop fretting and figure your way out of this."

Certain decisions had to be made at the outset. He couldn't return by Scott's as he had come. That road was too hilly and tricky. No, he would have to push through on the grading until it reached another highway many miles distant. He could not hike out; he had to stay with his truck—his legs could not be lifted through that much snow.

The next day there was more snow, but he rose and methodically started digging. He would shovel the left wheel track for four hours and then switch over and work his way back on the right for another four. Then he'd move his truck up as far as he had shoveled it.

Knee-High Drifts
Night came again and then again. Some days he worked for six hours, some days eight. Now the drifts were knee-high in places, now up to his hip. When the cold became too intense, and his glasses fogged and his hands seemed to numb, he would warm himself for awhile by his stove.

He wondered how long he could go on. Already, however, he began to ration his stores somewhat—just in case. Gasoline was a problem, too. It might not last. He prayed that his back would.

The 15th day came and went, and the 16th and 17th. The routine had long since palled from monotony. He was up with the first light, chopping wood, heating snow for water, eating a little, then back to shoveling. Somehow the darkness always came before he wanted it.

SIX CONVICTED OF PLOTTING TO OVERTHROW U.S.

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Three men and three women, protesting their innocence, were convicted Wednesday night of conspiring to advocate the violent overthrow of the U.S. government.

They were not sentenced immediately. Lawyers for the six said the verdict will be appealed.

U.S. Dist. Judge Lee Knous granted their motion for five days in which to file for a new trial. Bonds ranged from $5,000 to $20,000—the largest amount for Arthur Bary, 47, of San Jose, Calif.

The six were convicted in 1955 on similar charges but that verdict was reversed by the 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, which ordered the case retried without the charge mentioning communism.

One Is Released
The charge against a seventh defendant convicted in the first trial, Lewis M. Johnson, 38, of Boston, Mass., was dismissed at the request of government lawyers.

In addition to Bary, the defendants were his former wife, Anna, 34, of Denver; Joseph Scherrer, 39, and his wife, Maia, both of New York City; Harold Zepelin, 33, of Denver, and Patricia J. Blau, 47, of El Paso, Tex.

The maximum possible sentence is five years' imprisonment and $5,000 fine for each.

FORD TO MAKE SMALLER CAR LATE THIS YEAR

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has become the first of the Big Three auto makers to confirm it will build a smaller car.

The company said in a letter to stockholders Wednesday that barring changes in the small car market, Ford will introduce an economy model sometime this fall.

Neither General Motors nor Chrysler, the other two members of the Big Three, had any comment on the Ford announcement. Both have outlined company positions in previous statements.

The latest of these was Tuesday when L. L. (Tex) Colbert, Chrysler president, told a news conference in New York that Chrysler had a small car in the testing stage but had not yet decided whether to put it on the market.

Other Plans
The GM stand was incorporated in the company's 1958 annual report by Frederic G. Donner, board chairman, and John F. Gordon, president. The executives told shareholders the corporation was continuing studies to be prepared to produce smaller cars in the event demand warranted them.

The Ford announcement was made by Henry Ford II, president, and Ernest R. Breech, board chairman. Their letter said that the company had been studying the small car situation for several years.

"Barring changes in the market or other circumstances," the letter said, "the company plans to introduce such a car during the 1960 model year."

Ford and Breech said the car will be in competition with other economy cars, "including cars expected to be produced in this country by other American manufacturers."

The predictions generally are that new models planned by the Big Three will be of from 108 to 110 inch wheelbase. This is about 10 inches shorter than regular Chevrolet and Ford models.

Before Standard Time was adopted in 1883, the railroads of the country were operating on as many as 100 different times.

SENATE OPENS HALL OF FAME

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate opens a hall of fame for former members today, honoring three stalwarts from the 19th century and two whose service was more recent.

Formal ceremonies were arranged for unveiling portraits of the five just outside the Senate chamber where they hewed their reputations and carved their influence on the nation. They are:

Henry Clay of Kentucky — the great compromiser.

Daniel Webster of Massachusetts — the silver-tongued playboy.

John C. Calhoun of South Carolina — the embittered state's rights champion.

Robert M. La Follette Sr. of Wisconsin — the embattled liberal.

Robert A. Taft of Ohio — the "Mr. Republican" of his time.

The idea of memorializing eminent senators through portraits was broached first around 1870. But nothing was done about it until 1956, when the Senate chose five of its members to select five of their most eminent predecessors.

Macmillan Believes West Should Be "Elastic" In Meeting Soviet Challenge

By BRACK CURRY

BONN (AP) — British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan flew into Bonn today to see West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and said the West must adopt an elastic position in trying to meet the Soviet challenge to Berlin.

"We all stand together, but in the methods of defense we must remain elastic," Macmillan told newsmen at the airport.

The British Prime Minister arrived half an hour after Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev took off from East Berlin for Moscow. During eight days in East Germany he had plugged as hard as ever for a German peace treaty and showed himself still determined to wrest West Berlin from the Western Allies.

Makes Second Tour
Macmillan's visit to Adenauer was his second stop on a swing around the major allied capitals to discuss Western policy in the light of his talks with Khrushchev in Moscow. The Briton met with President Charles de Gaulle and Premier Michel Debre in Paris earlier this week and goes next week to Washington.

Macmillan remarked today that the West is "still a long way from our goal" of finding means of countering the Soviet threat to West Berlin. But he stressed that the West remains "resolute and firm on our principles."

The Soviet leader's tour wound up with a joint Soviet-East German communique Wednesday night calling for a peace treaty on terms already rejected by the West.

The Soviet Union and the East German satellite regime pledged to keep the road open between West Berlin and the West — but only on condition that the Allied occupation ends. State Department spokesmen in Washington said the offer was nothing new and emphasized that it would mean the Western allies giving up their rights in Berlin.

Red Demands
Khrushchev and the East Germans also repeated the Soviet demand that the proposed foreign ministers conference be confined to preparation of a peace treaty with Germany and "discussion of the quickest liquidation of the occupation regime in West Berlin." They also called for a summit conference to take up other issues dividing East and West. The West wants to discuss the whole question of German unification rather than be pinned down to facets of the German problem.

The prospects loomed larger for East-West negotiations—and possibly the summit talks sought so ardently by Khrushchev. New notes to the Soviet Union prepared in the Western capitals reportedly will suggest a foreign ministers conference in Geneva about May 11.

New Industry For N. Oxford In Sight

If certain details can be worked out, New Oxford may have a new industry in the very near future. Representatives from the Perkins Battery Company, with headquarters in York, attended a meeting of the New Oxford Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening when they expressed a desire to locate in New Oxford and occupy the former Cannon Shop factory building on Golden Lane.

The Perkins Company manufactures industrial electric truck batteries and emergency lighting equipment. They are presently expanding into the distributor field and the New Oxford phase of operation would, at first, be limited to that category. Eventually they would employ upwards to 75 or

Wally Post Clouts Two Homers To Pace Phillies, Win Over Braves 13 To 7

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer

Wally Post may supply the right answer to the Philadelphia Phillies' question: "Who will share the outfield with Richie Ashburn and Harry Anderson?"

Ashburn, the National League's batting king in 1958 with a .350 average, and Anderson, the soph who hit .301 with 97 runs batted in and had 23 homers, need help to get the Phils out of the NL cellar.

Post was supposed to supplant the power the Phils missed in 1957 when Del Ennis went to St. Louis after the 1956 season. Philadelphia gave the Cincinnati Reds pitcher Harvey Haddix in exchange for Post.

Clouted 12 Homers

Things didn't work out as planned last year. Post wound up being platooned with Rip Repulski and Anderson, and doing a lot of pinchhitting. He finished with a respectable .282 batting average, but had only 12 homers (four as pinchhitter) and 62 RBI.

Post went about nailing down the outfield job Wednesday with a pair of home runs in a 17-hit Philadelphia attack that demolished the Milwaukee Braves 13-7. Gene Freese also homered for the Phils and rookies Jim Pisoni and Chuck Cottier did likewise for the Braves.

The Braves' Carlton Willey, Bob Rush, Bob Buhl and Dale Henderson were the victims of the Phils' attack.

Socks Grand Slam Homer

Hank Sauer's grand slam homer highlighted a six-run eighth inning to give the San Francisco Giants a 10-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs. Cal Neuman and Tony Taylor hit home runs for Chicago.

Don Demeter's long single gave Los Angeles a 7-6 victory over Cincinnati. Johnny Temple, with four hits, and Roy McMillan with three and three RBI, paced the Cincinnati attack.

Chuck Essengian's triple and Lee Tate's single in the 10th inning helped St. Louis to its first Grapefruit League victory, over Pittsburgh, 5-4. Stan Musial, in his initial training appearance, went hitless.

Boston Unbeaten

Boston capitalized on two errors each by first baseman Larry Doby and pitcher Hal Woodeshick to edge Cleveland 4-3 and remain the only unbeaten team in exhibition play.

A two-run homer by rookie Bob Callison in the eighth inning handed the New York Yankees their third straight loss as Washington won a 13-12 slugfest.

MOORE SHOOT AT HOWE MARK

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Dickie Moore, Montreal Canadiens, led winger and leading scorer in the National Hockey League, had a chance today to break Gordie Howe's all-time point record for one season.

Moore tallied his 38th goal of the season and collected two assists Wednesday night at Toronto when the Canadiens trounced the Maple Leafs 6-2. Moore, with 48 assists, now has 86 points, Howe scored 49 goals and had 46 assists when he set the record of 95 points with the Detroit Red Wings in the 1952-53 season.

With five games left before the Canadiens go into the Stanley Cup playoffs, Moore has only to average two points per contest. Meanwhile, the Chicago Black Hawks ended a three-game losing streak by whipping the New York Rangers 5-3, thus clinching a playoff berth for the first time in six years.

Andy Bathgate registered the third goal but trick for the first time this season. Bathgate, however, failed to gain on Moore and Montreal's Jean Beliveau in the scoring race.

Nick Cullop To Manager Red Roses

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Nick Cullop, former major league player and minor league manager, has been named manager of the Lancaster Red Roses in the Class A Eastern League.

The appointment of Cullop Wednesday was the first official action of H. H. Haverstick Jr., who became president of the club in a reorganization meeting the night before.

Cullop, now living in Columbus, Ohio, succeeds Johnny Pesky who managed the Red Roses to the Eastern League pennant last season. Lancaster had a working agreement with the Detroit Tigers in 1958. When it was terminated Pesky left.

This year the club will have a partial working agreement with the Chicago Cubs.

Kluszewski Key Man For Pirates

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Ted Kluszewski is the key to the Pittsburgh Pirates' National League chances, says ex-Pirate great Pie Traynor.

"I don't think they can do it without him," the Hall of Fame member said Wednesday. "The club definitely has to play the big guy regularly at first base."

Traynor said when he first came to the spring training camp two weeks ago he thought no player on the squad could drive in over 65 or 70 runs.

"But I've been watching Kluszewski swing that bat and he'll drive in 100 runs if he plays regularly. He'll take up the slack in homers left by Thomas," added Traynor.

Kluszewski was idle Wednesday in Pittsburgh's 5-4 10-inning loss to the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg, Fla.

PICK CHICAGO BOYS IN GOLDEN GLOVES BOUTS

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago's Golden Glovers, the best amateur scrappers in the West, will take boxing skill rather than punching power against New York in the March 25 intercity bouts here.

This was demonstrated clearly Wednesday night before 11,243 in Chicago Stadium and a national television audience in Chicago's tourney of champions finals.

Four of the amateur stars, including one of the two defending champions, won their titles before the TV camera.

McClure Wins

Wilbur McClure, Toledo, Ohio, retained his 160-pound championship with a decision over Cincinnati's Herbert Wills.

The others who won titles "on camera" included heavyweight Jimmy Jones, 18, an unemployed Chicago representative; welterweight Don Sargent, a truck driver from Minneapolis; and Cassius Clay, 17, a high school light heavy from Louisville, Ky.

The only other returning champion, little Gil Yanez of Toledo, retained his flyweight crown with a decision over Oscar German, Grand Rapids, Mich.

Four teams—Chicago, Nashville, Cincinnati and Toledo—shared the team crown with 14 points each, a point for each bout won in the entire tourney.

The doubleheader at New York's Madison Square Garden tips off the 22nd annual edition of the NIT. The NCAA small college tourney reaches the semifinal stage at Evansville, Ind. The NAIA scrambling goes into the quarter-finals at Kansas City, and the National Collegiate (NCAA) tournament takes its last breather before plunging into four big regional tournaments.

Fordham (16-7), New York area, in the 12-team tournament that winds up March 21, is a four-point favorite over Butler. The Indiana team shows an 18-8 record but has nailed 18 victories in its last 21 starts after dropping its first five.

Out Of Slump

St. John's (16-6), apparently out of the slump that struck after the Redmen had won 12 of their first 13, is an eight-point choice over Villanova (18-6).

The NCAA tournament moves back into prominence Friday night with regional doubleheaders at Charlotte, N.C., Evanston, Ill., Lawrence, Kan., and San Francisco.

The field of 16 was completed Wednesday night when Idaho State's Rocky Mountain perennials nipped Border Conference champion New Mexico State 62-61. Idaho State, playing in the NCAA for the seventh straight year, will meet St. Mary's (Calif.) in the Far Western regional at San Francisco Friday night.

Friday Lineup

The Friday lineup reads like this:

Far Western at San Francisco: Idaho State (20-6) vs St. Mary's (18-5); California (21-4) vs Utah (21-5).

Mid-West at Lawrence: Texas Christian (19-5) vs Cincinnati (23-3); DePaul (13-9) vs Kansas State (24-1).

Mid-East at Evanston: Louisville (17-10) vs Kentucky (23-2); Marquette (23-4) vs Michigan State (18-3).

East at Charlotte: West Virginia (26-4) vs St. Joseph's (Pa.) (22-3); Boston U. (19-6) vs Navy (17-5).

Lenoir Rhyne College of North Carolina furnished the eye-opener in the small school battling Wednesday, snapping Grambling (La.) 23-game unbeaten streak 88-78 in a second round NAIA game. Lenoir Rhyne was joined in the quarter-finals by Pacific Lutheran, West Virginia Wesleyan, defending champion Tennessee A&I, Ft. Hays (Kan.) State, Southwest Texas State, Illinois North and Georgia Teachers.

Host Evansville topped its tournament conqueror of a year ago, St. Michaels (Vt.) 82-63 and moved into the NCAA small college semifinals with North Carolina A&T in tonight's semis. Finals are Friday night while the NAIA winds up its week-long run Saturday night.

New Challenger To Face Pfeiffers

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Another well-armed challenger will attempt to wrest the American Bowling Congress Tournament team lead from the Detroit Pfeiffers tonight.

Stroh's Beer, also of Detroit, will try to better the record 3243 series which put Pfeiffers in first place in the open division more than two weeks ago.

The Munsingwear team of Chicago, led by Buddy Bomar, was the latest team to fall short of Pfeiffers' imposing score. The club rolled a 2947 series Wednesday night, not even good enough for a place in the top 10.

A darkhorse team gained third place, Leonard Sales of St. Louis, paced by Frank Lucido's 691 series, rolled 969, 1035, 1138—3142.

There were no changes in the top 10 standings of the singles, doubles and booster team divisions.

Ski Championships Postponed Again

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP)—The Pennsylvania State Ski Championships, already postponed five times, will be held March 21-22 at Laurel Mountain Slopes if conditions permit.

After the first four postponements, the event was re-scheduled for next Saturday. But even this date was crossed off the books Wednesday. Doc Des Roche, Laurel Mountain manager, said that even with the heavy snow in this area it would be impossible to get the course in shape by Saturday.

Coach Johnny McLendon's Tigers, tournament champions the last two years, used only six players to eliminate a strong Youngstown (Ohio) University team 89-80 in the second round Wednesday night. And only five Tigers scored in their first-round victory over Nebraska Wesleyan.

Tennessee A&I appear a solid favorite, however, over Illinois Normal University, its quarter-final foe tonight.

Other Results

Illinois Normal eliminated Fairleigh-Dickinson of New Jersey 68-64 Wednesday night.

West Virginia Wesleyan defeated Duluth Branch of Minnesota University 90-75. Wesleyan plays Fort Hays (Kan.) State today.

The Thundering Herd, unbeaten in 23 games this year, will meet Chester, District 1 kingpins, at the Palestra, Philadelphia, Saturday evening in an inter-district game. Chester crushed Lansdowne-Aldan 78-51 Wednesday.

Mike Washington of Carlisle, named this week to the All-State team, rammed through 23 points in sparking the Herd to its triumph.

Carlisle rushed off to a 15-6 lead in the first period and saw its lead slashed to 23-20 at half time.

York, coached by Don Cockley, former Gettysburg College athlete, spurred to a 32-27 advantage early in the third period before Carlisle recovered to run up a string of 10 straight points to lead the remainder of the way.

Fine rebounding by Washington 6-3 and Paul Sollenberger 6-4 at crucial moments was a big factor in the Carlisle triumph.

The other semifinal in Class B Friday night matches Westmoreland of Dist. 2 against Montoursville of Dist. 4 in the east. West Middlesex (Dist. 10) qualified for the western final by beating Union Joint (Dist. 9) Tuesday night.

Darby is the only 1958 Dist. B champion to repeat this year. Kutztown eliminated defending Dist. 3 and eastern champion Columbia in a tight contest Tuesday night, 48-45. Darby the same night won an eastern preliminary game against Weatherly by a lopsided 81-48. Darby, which played in a good Class A league in suburban Philadelphia, probably will beat Kutztown in a low-scoring contest.

Governor Asks Business Lobbyists To Join With Labor On A Tax Program

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gov. Lawrence today asked business lobbyists to join with labor leaders in supporting a tax program suited to the state's best interests.

"To their very great credit, our fellow Pennsylvanians in the highest leadership ranks of organized labor have agreed to taxes which are admittedly consumer taxes—to which labor is philosophically opposed," Lawrence said.

"They have been ready to agree because they placed the state's economic growth and the state's ability to supply essential services above any other consideration.

"It will be a great pity—and a great blow to Pennsylvania—if the massed regiments of business lobbyists at Harrisburg, each representing a narrow interest, destroy the good that has been done."

Speaking before a conference on jobs and business climate sponsored by the Greater Philadelphia Chamber of Commerce, Lawrence plugged for adoption of the entire revenue program recommended by his Tax Study Commission.

"We must make the government of Pennsylvania solvent and strong," Lawrence warned. "That is elemental but we haven't been doing it."

Tax Not Injurious

Lawrence said he believed his proposed tax program—featuring a 3½ per cent expanded state sales tax, is "not injurious to industrial and economic development in Pennsylvania."

Clifford F. Hood, president of U.S. Steel Corp. and a co-chairman of the Governor's Tax Advisory Committee, also spoke at a luncheon.

Hood called attention to the committee's recommendation that Pennsylvania must be competitive with other states in the incidence of its taxation on industrial growth.

"Business depends for its success upon the climate within the community where it operates. Local taxes can often be more damaging to a business than federal or state taxes," he said in a prepared text.

PA. DEMOCRATS TO BACK 4 PCT. TAX PROPOSAL

HARRISBURG (AP) — House Democrats were agreed today to support a 4 per cent sales tax if automobile trade-ins and over-the-bar sales of beer and liquor are exempt.

"I've got the votes," Rep. Stephen McCann, Democratic floor leader, said confidently in an interview.

He outlined details of a compromise proposed at a closed Democratic caucus Tuesday to still a rank-and-file revolt over Gov. Lawrence's plan to boost the sales levy from 3 to 3½ per cent and expand its coverage.

To Bring Accord

McCann claimed the compromise would free the entire 12-bill tax package awaiting House action.

Lawrence's sales tax proposal and a companion hotel room tax—which also would go up to 4 per cent under the compromise—have been before the House since last week. Ten other tax proposals are in the Ways and Means Committee.

McCann maintained the caucus agreement "includes passage in the House of all tax measures."

The Greene County lawmaker said he briefed Gov. Lawrence Wednesday on the caucus' opposition to the present sales tax proposal. McCann added, however, that the governor made no commitment on the changes proposed in caucus.

Lawrence at his news conference

Wednesday expressed willingness to compromise. But he added he wanted to talk further with Clifford Hood and Thomas Kennedy, co-chairmen of the Tax Advisory Committee which drew up the revenue program for raising an additional 400 million dollars in the next biennium.

Both labor and merchant groups issued statements Wednesday regarding the tax problem.

Commenting on the caucus action, Joseph A. McDonough, Pennsylvania Federation of Labor president, wrote to House members saying:

"We shall oppose any and all such compromises.

Retailers' Views
"As a matter of fact any effort to significantly alter the report of the Tax Advisory Committee will relieve this organization of the responsibility to support the (committee) report, which we have pledged to do."

In a letter to Lawrence, the Pennsylvania Retailers' Assn. urged expanding the sales tax base and keeping the levy at 3 per cent.

The Advisory Committee proposed a broadened tax base that would include automobile and appliance trade-ins and alcoholic beverages sold in bars and restaurants.

It estimated this would raise 264 of the additional 400 millions which Lawrence's budget-makers said are needed to balance a record $1,907,000,000 1959-61 budget.

MARVELOUS LITTLE EVA SEES IN DARK

By GERALD I. MILLER
BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Here's one lady who knows what's going on in the dark.

She's little Eva, as cunning a bundle of lens, diaphragm, oils, cranks, wires and gauges as you're likely to meet anywhere.

With utter aplomb and a little squirt of oil Eva can tell in pitch blackness how much coffee is in the pot, the kind of suit you're wearing and the temperature of a girl's lips.

But these are merely party tricks, done to dramatize her ability. Eva's main work is more serious.

Evaporograph
Eva, whose full name is Evaporograph, is the dream girl of Baird-Atomic, Inc., of Cambridge, Mass.

Dr. David Z. Robinson, who created her, disclosed at a recent Infrared Spectroscopy Institute here what unique and valuable work she's doing.

Eva turns infrared—or heat—rays emitted by all matter into a kind of photograph that is both a picture and temperature chart. In absolute darkness her lens can focus rays from objects up to 500 feet away on a special, darkened diaphragm.

Oils squirted on the diaphragm are condensed by the rays and take on the objects' shapes and approximate colors.

Blue Lips
The oils turn blue for low temperatures, yellow for high and different shades for temperatures in between.

On Eva's diaphragm, for example, a blonde in a sweater turns up in warm, flesh-colored tints with the lips, which are relatively cool, a shade bluer than the rest of the body.

In industry, Dr. Robinson explained, Eva can do such jobs as locate breaks in the internal insulation of giant steel furnaces.

The temperature of the break is different from that of the rest of the furnace and Eva, by taking a quick look from the outside, can tell worried steelmen just where and how big the trouble is.

Checks On Wounds
One of Eva's functions in medicine is to report how well and fast surface wounds heal.

Injured areas are warmer than the rest of the body and cool off as they heal. With Eva taking the temperature, doctors can check precisely on patients' progress.

Dr. Robinson says there are 15 evaporographs in use by industry and medicine.

The Defense Department has some, but how many and for what uses is a secret.

Domestic jobs for Eva also are under study but there's little chance she'll be invited into homes in the near future despite her talents.

She costs about $10,000.

Ingredients: 4 shoulder lamb chops (about ¾-inch thick), 1 tablespoon butter or margarine, 1 medium-sized onion (cut into ¼-inch rings), 2 large branches celery (cut into ¼-inch crescents), 1½ cups carrot rounds (about ¼ inch thick), salt, pepper, 1 cup cooked green peas.

Method: Cut fat away from around chops. Brown lamb chops on both sides in heated heavy skillet in hot butter. Add onion, celery and carrots; sprinkle chops and vegetables with salt and pepper to taste. Cover and simmer until chops are tender—30 minutes or longer. If dome-type skillet is used, there will be enough steam; if not, it may be necessary to add a tablespoon of water from time to time. Add drained peas and heat. Makes 4 servings.

Note: Place vegetables at bottom of skillet around chops so top of meat will stay brown.

ROAST CORNISH HENS
Ingredients: 4 Rock Cornish game hens (each 14 ounces), 4 leafy celery tops, 4 large sprigs parsley, 1 seedless orange, ½ cup (¼ pound) butter, salt, pepper.

Method: Thaw hens; wash in cold water; drain and dry; bend wings back so they are akimbo. Put a celery top, parsley sprig and one-quarter of the unpeeled orange in the body cavity of each hen; tie legs together. Spread 1 tablespoon of soft butter over outside of each hen; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place breast-side down in shallow roasting pan in hot (450 degrees) oven; after about 20 minutes spread hens with remaining 4 tablespoons soft butter and turn breast-side up. Continue to roast 30 to 40 minutes longer, basting once or twice, or until hens are extremely tender and well browned. Makes 4 servings.

Young Cook Gets Contest Coaching

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP)—A home economist judging a boys' club baking contest asked an 8-year-old how he prepared a recipe when he was too young to read most of it.

"Another boy read the recipe and I followed his directions," the young man replied matter-of-factly.

WOMAN'S CLUB

200 years ago. Before that it was used as a weapon, as a spear, as a spit over fires and in Italy was also used, by about the 16th century, for serving. King Henry of England is said to have used a knife, but the use did not spread. Many considered its use a "devil's device" because the Lord created fingers and that was what man should use.

Sterling Nearly Pure

"Sterling silver is 925/1000ths pure, and the other 75/1000ths is an alloy used to give it strength. The name came from a coin used by an honest German tribe in the 14th century. Their coin, the Esterling, was so pure silver it became the standard, but the 'E' eventually was dropped and the word became 'sterling'."

"In the colonies the leading silversmiths included Paul Revere. They generally used small silver trinkets which they melted down to obtain the silver for the articles they made from it. Each used his own designs and signed his name to it."

Stieff showed movies and slides of various types of silverware made over the years, ranging from vases to knives and forks. A display of Stieff silver, including Williamsburg reproductions, china and glassware, was placed at the meeting room by Blocher's Jewelry Store.

Reporting "excellent success" from the card party in January, the club voted to donate from the profits $50 to the Women's Medical College at Philadelphia, an amount not to exceed $200 to the Warner Hospital for an air conditioner in a room and $40 for the YWCA.

A letter inviting the members to attend a luncheon at the Hotel Gettysburg today honoring the international president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was read.

Mrs. Harold Dunkelberger outlined plans for the convocation at Gettysburg College April 3 and 4 at which speakers will include Secretary of Interior Seaton and President Eisenhower and urged the members to attend a dinner to be held at 6:30 p.m. April 3. Those who wish tickets are to contact Mrs. Dunkelberger or Mrs. R. D. Wickerham, president of the Woman's Club.

Name Nominating Committee
Mrs. Wickerham appointed as a nominating committee: Mrs. Harold Ecker, chairman, Mrs. Edgar Deardorff, Mrs. Harold Dunkelberger, Mrs. George Thrush and Mrs. J. B. Berry. Named as the auditing committee were Mrs. Lloyd C. Keefeaver and Mrs. Earl Zeigler.

It was announced that the annual spring meeting of the Adams County Federation of Women's Clubs will be held the second week of April at Bankert's Restaurant in Littlestown, and that the next meeting of the Woman's Club of Gettysburg will be held April 8 in the form of a tour to the Hall of Presidents and Cliff Arquette's Soldiers. Mrs. Herbert L. Biye, chairman of the education department, will be in charge of the meeting. Miss Virginia M. Myers will be chairman of the hostess committee. Mrs. William Ayre will be in charge of the committee for transportation.

Mrs. Roy Hamsher, chairman of the fine arts department, was in charge of Wednesday's meeting. Mrs. Fred G. Pfeffer was chairman of the hostess committee.

Youth Fellowship Meeting Is Held

The Gettysburg Regional Youth Fellowship of the Mercersburg Synod of the United Church of Christ met recently at Trinity Church here.

Following devotions led by Paul Forsythe, president, and Jackie

Leister, vice president, a film strip, "The Faith of a Guy," was shown. Three group sessions met to discuss "Our Christian Faith," theme of the rally, with Paul Forsythe, Duff Forsythe and Jackie Leister as the leaders. After a "sack" lunch, the Rev. Dr. Howard S. Fox, pastor of Trinity Church, spoke on "Lord, Increase Our Faith." Closing devotions were in charge of Chester Schultz, Margaret Smith and Elizabeth Hull of the host church.

The next meeting will be held Sunday, May 17, at 3 p.m. at Redeemer's United Church of God, Littlestown. The theme will be "Our Christian Fellowship."

Claim Kennedy Does Flip-flop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The presidential bug has bitten Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), the Republican National Committee said today, with the result that he has become a "political chameleon."

In one of a series of "battle line broadsides" aimed at potential candidates for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, the GOP committee accused Kennedy of a turnabout on major political issues.

"In bidding for national political support, Kennedy has found it expedient to flip-flop on many of his previous positions in an unabashed attempt to coax backing from various special interests," the Republicans said.

HARRISBURG (AP)—The General State Authority Wednesday received an unofficial low bid of $10,885 for test borings at Pennsylvania State University.

WEST TO OFFER SOVIET UNION POSSIBILITY OF SUMMIT TALKS

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western powers are expected soon to offer the Soviet Union the definite possibility of a summit conference later this year.

The major Western condition for a top level meeting probably will be that an earlier conference of foreign ministers should make progress toward settling the Berlin crisis.

There is behind-the-scenes British dissent on this point, however. London leaders have informed other Allied governments they believe that direct and personal negotiations with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev will have to be arranged sooner or later in any case.

Agree On Central Strategy
The central strategy on which all the Western powers are agreed is that negotiations must be employed to the fullest limit possible in order to overcome the danger that the Berlin dispute could eventually explode into a nuclear war.

President Eisenhower told a news conference Wednesday that "we are certainly not going to fight a ground war in Europe."

He declined under questioning to say flatly that the West would resort to nuclear war if the Soviets started shooting in Germany. But he did hold open that possibility, apparently for the deliberate purpose of warning Khrushchev.

Next Move Up To West
While the news conference discussion concentrated on the dangers of an all-out conflict if the Berlin crisis were pushed to that point, administration officials said Eisenhower and all of his chief aides believe that Khrushchev will stop short of a military showdown if the West shows firmness and determination in defending its Berlin position.

On the diplomatic front, the next move is up to the West. It may come early next week, in the form of new notes to the U.S.S.R. from the United States, Britain and France.

These notes are expected to call for a foreign ministers conference at Geneva about May 11 to deal with the whole German problem, including Soviet proposals respecting Berlin and a German peace treaty.

The Soviet Union has said a foreign ministers meeting should be limited to those two points.

Sheriff Eludes His Own Blocks

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Sheriff Myron Gilbert of Ada County decided to test the local roadblock system for trapping wanted criminals.

Twenty-seven officers were assigned to roadblocks in the area to watch for Gilbert, who theoretically had held up a grocery store and stolen a getaway car in Boise.

Gilbert eluded the dragnet and made it to Mountain Home, Idaho—43 miles away—without once being challenged.

Probe Dynamiting Of Worker's Home

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP)—Police today investigated the dynamiting of a worker's home as mediators called another meeting in an effort to settle a bitter mill strike that began 17 weeks ago.

The explosion, second this week, tore out part of the kitchen in the home of Sam Harris Wednesday night.

Harris, 25, a nonstriking employee of the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills, said he was watching television in the living room with his wife when the explosion "blew a hole in the kitchen floor."

Harris, his wife and their children, asleep in a bedroom, escaped injury.

Monday, an explosion damaged the boiler room in one of the mills' two plants.

been adopted which will permit the present directorships to expire and produce the new directors for the merged board. Two years from now, when the terms of 12 present directors expire, three will be named to replace them, from Tyrone, Biglerville and either Arendtsville or Bendersville, depending on which has the larger population by that time.

At present the two boroughs are tied in population. That will bring the number of "new" directors to five. Two years after that when the terms of the last 12 of the present members expire, the sixth man will be named, either from Arendtsville or Bendersville, and one will be elected at large, thus completing the new board.

On Township Lists

Each of 21 townships will elect a supervisor this year, which means 42 will have to be nominated, one on each ticket. Each of the boroughs will be setting up a new council this year. In seven of the boroughs each party will nominate four councilmen. In Bendersville each party will name three council candidates, in Gettysburg each party will nominate six council candidates, in Littlestown and McSherrystown each will name three council candidates. In each ward of Gettysburg two council candidates are sought from each party in each of the three wards. In Littlestown it will be one councilman each from the First Ward and two each from the second ward. In McSherrystown it is the First Ward which needs two council candidates from each party and the Second Ward one candidate.

Expect Write-ins

In Fairfield, Littlestown First Ward, McSherrystown First Ward, New Oxford and Highland, Liberty and Union Twp.s, each party will be asked to nominate one candidate. In Bendersville, East Berlin, Fairfield, Gettysburg, McSherrystown, New Oxford and Butler, Conewago, Freedom, Hamilton, Liberty, Mt. Pleasant, Straban and Union Twp.s, each party will submit one nominee for justice of the peace. In Littlestown and Latimore Twp. nominees for two justices of the peace are sought from each party.

The election board hopes to receive petitions by the hundreds to fill out the ballot, but expects that, as usual, there will be a

News From Nearby Counties

CUMBERLAND COUNTY

Building of a new 18-room elementary school building in Newville to replace the present outmoded Newville and Oakville schools was approved by the Big Spring Joint School Board.

Damages in excess of $5,000 are sought by Lloyd H. Knisely, Monroe Twp., in a damage suit filed in Cumberland County court against Elmer Sealover, Mechanicsburg, a teacher of agricultural subjects in the Cumberland Valley School System.

The suit is based on alleged negligence which resulted in the death of Knisely's son, Ray L., 14, last October 30. The boy was thrown from the running board of a truck driven by Sealover and died of injuries suffered when he fell to the paved surface at the Middlesex school.

FRANKLIN COUNTY
Although Franklin County's budget is nearing the $1 million mark, commissioners expect that the 1959 tax on real estate will remain the same as for 1958, 10 mills.

A $1.5 million school budget for the Chambersburg Joint School District is posing a problem for member districts, directors of which have said they are stumped in attempts to find enough money to meet their obligations. The new budget indicates a need for higher taxes equivalent to increases of from 8 to 21 mills, depending upon the assessments of the several districts.

YORK COUNTY

Thirty-one prosecutions for failure to license dogs were brought this week against owners in the Rossville, Wellsville R. 1, and Dillsburg R. 1 area, James G. McDowell Jr., dog law officer, said Wednesday.

He said he and Earl Wert, dog law officer for Lebanon and Lancaster Counties, "conducted a raid on unlicensed" dogs in the area Tuesday in a door to door campaign.

Charges were brought before Justice of the Peace Jesse Webb, Dillsburg R. 3. Fines for the offense range from $5 to $100 plus costs.

Opposition to proposed state legislation to allow counties to use up to 20 per cent of the liquid fuel tax refund monies for county airports was voted Wednesday night by York County Boroughs' Association.

During its meeting at Red Lion, the association passed resolutions opposing four other proposed bills including one that would require the consent of the electorate be-

1929 Ford Beats All Autos Owner Claims

OCOONTO, Wis. (AP)—Albert Gillis recently bought his 31st set of automobile license plates for the car he purchased in 1929 for $600.

Gillis has a 1929 Ford coupe in showroom condition. With more than 200,000 miles of driving—the third time around for the mileage indicator—Gillis feels the car is good for another 30 years.

A man who loves figures and keeps accurate records, Gillis says his Model A has used a little over 10,000 gallons of gasoline and 700 gallons of oil. It never has had a broken part.

"Best darn car on the road," Gillis says. "They don't build them like that anymore."

BOARD PLANS
PTA MEETING FOR TUESDAY

The executive board of the Littlestown PTA met Tuesday evening at the home of the president, Marvin F. Breighner, E. King St., to plan for the March meeting to be held next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Rolling Acres Elementary School.

Mrs. Herbert Plunkert, membership chairman, reported that the roll comprises 235 members. The president reported that the PTA legislative group has asked the local organization to endorse two bills which they are fostering, one that election of school directors be held on non-partisan basis and the second that immunization of children against polio should take place before they enter school. The board voted to recommend that the PTA support these two bills.

The nominating committee, consisting of Mrs. William W. Seibert, Miss Mary Catherine Shildt, John D. Basehoar, Mrs. Edward Newman, Paul Hull and Mrs. Wayne Brown, will present a slate of officers for election on Tuesday.

It was reported that three types of programs are preferred, after a count of the votes on the questionnaires from the February meeting. They are buzz sessions, guest speaker and panel discussions, in that order.

The president announced that the third meeting of the Adams County Council of PTA's will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday, March 26, at a place to be announced, and also that the PTA spring conference will be held at Danville May 2, a luncheon meeting which officers, committee chairmen and other interested persons should attend.

The program next Tuesday will be in the form of a buzz session on the subject "Discipline in the Home Versus Discipline in the School" with an opportunity for parents to express their opinions. Mrs. Edward H. Leister is program chairman and Mrs. Patsy Crouse will be vocalist.

ABBOTTSTOWN — Paradise Catholic Church members will begin this spring season with nine days of special prayer in honor of St. Isidore, patron saint of farmers, beginning Saturday and concluding Sunday, March 22. The centuries-old custom of invoking intercession of this Spanish saint for a successful harvest was revived in the Paradise congregation by the pastor, the Rev. Louis S. Dougherty, four years ago.

At a combined meeting of the Holy Name Society and Women's Council of Paradise Catholic parish Sunday morning, arrangements were made for the annual St. Patrick's Day public card party. The event was formerly conducted by the men's group. During recent years a sample fair has been added and will be in the women's charge. The event, for the benefit of outstanding expenses of the parish, offers a number of prizes and a refreshment stand.

SEPARATE CAREERS

NEW YORK (AP) — Cyril Ritchard keeps his careers as star performer and stage director firmly apart — even when he is doing both at the same time.

Ritchard is appearing in the Broadway smash hit, "The Pleasure of His Company," and is guiding "Lulu" as well.

To avoid public confusion, Ritchard announced that he wanted a "clearly established" that his directorial chores were not to interfere with his acting. He arranged during the tryout tour of "Lulu" for transportation back into New York for each performance of "The Pleasure of His Company."

TARPON DISCOVERED

WACHAPREAGUE, Va. (AP) — For years fishermen told of tarpon tearing up their nets on the Atlantic side of Virginia's Eastern Shore. Sport fishermen tried but nobody caught any. Claude Rogers, director of Virginia's Salt Water Fishing Tournament, wouldn't give up. He caught the first one in 1955, a 90-pounder. In 1956 a Norfolk angler caught the second one. But this year Virginia fishermen under Rogers' direction hit the jackpot and numerous tarpon have been brought to gaff. Rogers, who lives at Virginia Beach, is now a sports fishing consultant for the state.

GUNTHER IS SURE OF GOP NOMINATION

HARRISBURG (AP) — Judge Blair Gunther, Pittsburgh, of the State Superior Court today was virtually assured the Republican nomination for state Supreme Court in the May 19 primary.

The possibility of an inner party struggle over the court post was precluded Wednesday by the withdrawal of Judge Edward J. Griffiths, Philadelphia.

George I. Bloom, GOP state chairman, announced the withdrawal of Griffiths, whose supporters had planned a fight against organization-backed Gunther.

In Interest of Unity
Bloom made public a letter from Wilbur H. Hamilton, Philadelphia GOP chairman and one of Griffiths' supporters, which said in part:

"Judge Griffiths has given this matter thoughtful consideration. In the interest of success for the Republican party in the general election next November, he believes the Republican party should be united behind Superior Court Judge Blair S. Gunther."

Hamilton and Austin Meehan, Philadelphia GOP power, said after a slate-making conference last Friday that they would seek support for Griffiths in opposition to Gunther.

FIRM ASKS SUIT COSTS

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Arthur L. Wright & Co., an investment firm, wants nine plaintiffs who etitioned to put the company in receivership to pay the $7,800 cost of the proceedings.

The receivership eventually was ruled unwarranted and dissolved by U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. Edwin S. Hines, counsel for the firm, asked U.S. District Judge Thomas J. Clary Wednesday for the ruling after the receiver, Frank J. Fogarty filed a final accounting. He took the request under advisement.

The plaintiffs who asked for the receivership were customers of former salesman Robert A. Kershaw, Ocean City, N.J., once associated with the Wright firm.

Kershaw has been sentenced in Cape May County Court House, N.J., to six to nine years in prison for swindling Mrs. Edith King, a 70-year-old widow, of $6,530.

Pontiac Chosen 'Car Of The Year'

The 1959 Pontiac has been chosen as "Car Of The Year" by Motor Trend magazine, it was revealed today by Walter A. Woron, editor of the popular automotive publication. The magazine's editors described Pontiac with its wide track as being the "best combination of handling, ride, performance and styling of any 1959 car."

Receiving the award for Pontiac from Editor Woron was S. E. Knudsen, GM vice president and Pontiac general manager.

"We at Pontiac are very proud of this signal honor," Knudsen said. "No previous Pontiac has ever been so unanimously accepted by the public nor attracted so much nationwide attention as our 1959 models. Receiving this 'Car Of The Year' award from such expert judges as the editors of Motor Trend reaffirms the public's favorable opinion of this car and in turn justifies our early confidence in the car," Knudsen stated.

In announcing its annual selection Motor Trend has this to say about Pontiac:

"The stability of the 1959 Pontiac is the outstanding automotive advance of the year."

Driving Snowstorm Hits East; One Death In Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A driving snowstorm slashed at the northeastern section of the nation today, moving eastward from Ohio and making highway travel treacherous.

At Delaware, Ohio, a 36-year-old man was killed in an auto-truck collision, the first storm-attributed death.

In New York City, about four hours after the snow started falling before midnight, 3½ inches were measured by the Weather Bureau, which predicted moderate to heavy accumulations before the fall abated in the afternoon. It already was the heaviest snowfall of the winter for the city. The heaviest previous fall was 3 inches Dec. 8-9.

8-12 Inches In Maryland
In Western Maryland, state police reported 8-12 inches in the mountains, with mixed snow and rain across northern counties.

In western central and northern Pennsylvania authorities issued warnings of hazardous driving. In all affected areas, sanding crews were out in force attempting to keep highways open.

Snow accumulations during the early morning hours amounted to 8 inches in sections of western Pennsylvania. Some flights were canceled at the Greater Pitts-

One Playwright Of Pair Was An Actor

NEW YORK (AP)—Broadway's newest playwright combination began when a young actor went looking for a job.

The actor was John Osborne, better known today as one of England's "angry young men." A half dozen years ago, however, Osborne was pursuing a performing career.

His first role was given to him by Anthony Creighton. Soon after, it developed, both Osborne and Creighton yearned to write.

Several scripts resulted and one, "Epitaph for George Dillon" is being presented on Broadway this season by David Merrick.

Broadway last season saw two of Osborne's solo scripts, "Look Back in Anger" and "The Entertainer."

burgh Airport.
As snow moved into Connecticut, the Weather Bureau forecast 4 to 8 inches. Temperatures were slightly under freezing. The storm entered Connecticut from the southwest, where it originated in West Virginia. Up to 8 inches of snow was forecast for other sections of New England.

Caused By Disturbance
In Ohio, Zanesville had 8 inches, Cincinnati 5, Columbus 3½, and Cleveland 6 inches on the ground and expecting more. Schools in Clark County were declared closed because of road conditions. Schools in several other rural areas were not expected to open. The storm was attributed to a disturbance moving north and east from the upper Ohio Valley, and reinforced by an air mass which moved in from the Atlantic Coast.

The snowfall came during the 71st anniversary of the great blizzard of 1888—which began March 11 and ended March 14.

Fishing, Hunting Stories Are In Book

NEW YORK (AP)—Thirteen fishing and hunting stories are told by Paul Hyde Bonner in Aged in the Woods (Charles Scribner's Sons, $5). The author of five novels, Bonner divides his tales between fact and fiction. Scenes range from a fishing boat off Maine to a Scottish grouse moor, a Montana trout stream and a South Carolina duck blind.

4 Pros At Golf Club Since Opening, 1922

MAMARONECK, N. Y. (AP)—The Winged Foot Golf Club, scene of the 1959 National Open, has had only four head professionals since it was opened in 1922.

First pro was Dan Mackie. Second to hold the post was Mike Brady, runner-up to Walter Hagen in the 1919 U.S. Open. Third on the job was Craig Wood, 1941 Open champion. Present pro is Claude Harmon who has held the position since 1946.

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

The POWER of FAITH by Howard Brodie

Each Friday, amid the tensions, wars and tyrannies of the Middle East, a dedicated band of Franciscan Fathers relives the events of the Via Dolorosa, the last path of Jesus Christ from His condemnation to His tomb.

Recently, I joined them in their sad journey past the stations where Jesus received his cross, where Simon of Cyrene helped Him to carry it, where He met the women of Jerusalem, and on to Calvary.

I marveled that, throughout the years of man-made violence that have swept the Holy Land, this simple act of devotion has prevailed for six centuries, demonstrating that the enduring love Christ taught us is stronger than the passing tensions of the day.

Royal Palace Is Restored, Open To Tourists In April

By NOEL YANCEY
NEW BERN, N. C. (AP)—What some folks call the handsomest building in colonial America is back in royal dress.

A restoration project lavished seven years and 3½ million dollars to turn back the clock for the splendid Georgian palace built by royal Governor William Tryon.

In its time the palace helped spark a rebellion among backwoods Tar Heel farmers. New Bernians hope the restoration will bring an invasion of free-spending tourists after it is open to the public.

The date for the formal opening has been set tentatively for April 8. But already this quiet river port community is getting set for the big day—when North Carolina's present governor and Legislature are expected to return for a day to the palace which was the state's first fixed capitol.

Study History
Sparked by Miss Gertrude Carraway, energetic director of the restoration, New Bern is brushing up on its colonial history. Some 36 women who will serve as hostess-guides have been taking history courses weekly for more than two years.

The palace was thrown open for a few days recently to give the home folks a preview. Hundreds of visitors included New Bern's policemen and firemen, bank employees, store clerks and waitresses.

"Everybody in New Bern is going to know all about the palace," promised Miss Carraway, so they can answer questions when the tourists begin to flock in.

The palace's central wing burned to the ground in 1798—only 28 years after it was completed. But in this brief span it not only served as North Carolina's first established seat of government, it was the home of its last two royal governors, the meeting place of the first state legislature and scene of the inaugural of its first two governors after independence was declared.

Washington Visited
President Washington was entertained in the palace—but did not sleep there—in a gala banquet and ball in 1791. The building had been neglected during the Revolution and lead from its roof and gutters had been stripped to make bullets for patriot rifles. Even before the palace was built it became a symbol—one of the grievances of oppressed backwoods farmers who staged a bloody revolt four years before the outbreak of the American Revolution.

These farmers, who called themselves Regulators, objected to the way in which a tax—raise the $75,000 which the palace cost—was levied. It was a head tax which forced the poor farmer to pay as much as the wealthy landowner.

Tryon, who suppressed the revolt sternly with colonial militia and hanged its leaders, was painted as a tyrant during the hysteria of the Revolution and afterward. But later, calmer historians have described him as the ablest of North Carolina's colonial governors. He left the colony a year after his palace was completed to become New York's last royal governor.

Found "Angel"
History-minded citizens had dreamed of restoring the palace for years. But it remained only a dream until the project found its "angel" in Mrs. Maude Moore Latham of Greensboro, N. C.

Mrs. Latham, wife of a wealthy industrialist, was born in New Bern and reared on legends of the palace. In 1944, she created a $100,000 trust fund for the restoration. It was the first of a series of gifts—including $125,000 worth of antique furnishings—that she lavished upon the project. Upon her death in 1951, she bequeathed to it the residue of her estate, then valued at $1,250,000.

The gifts, fortunately, were in gilt-edged stocks and bonds which have more than doubled in value since. With $227,000 put up by the state to acquire land, the Tryon Palace Commission had ample funds for the restoration and will have a substantial sum left for an endowment fund. The restored palace has been deeded to the State of North Carolina.

No Money Problem
Thanks to Mrs. Latham, the commission "did not have the problem that most projects and most restorations face," said Miss Carraway. "We didn't have any worries about money."

And the restored palace, its $750,000 worth of furnishings—antique furniture, paintings and other objects of art—and its lavishly landscaped grounds leading to the edge of a broad and blue tidal river—all testify that money was no problem.

Many long months were devoted to research, both on the site and elsewhere, before work could start on the palace. Experts were sent to England where some of the original plans and sketches were found.

On the site research was so thorough that every inch of soil

Hanson Lead Money Winners As Golfer

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Beverly Hanson finished in the money in each of the 25 tournaments of the Ladies' Professional Golfers Assn during 1958 and led the money winners with $12,629.55. She won two titles, taking the Titleholders crown by five strokes over Betty Dodd and winning a tournament at Lawton, Okla. She finished second four times.

In and around the building was screened. One official remarked that "we were able to tell on which side of the wall the masons stood in laying brick."

As a result of the careful research, the restorers believe that the main building, its wings, its sentry boxes and gate posts, its driveway, even its two pentagon-shaped "necessary houses," or johnnies, stand today exactly on their original sites.

The phrase "seat on the New York Stock Exchange" dates back to the days when members sat down and stocks were called out for bids and offers. Today the members stand up.

"TOBACCO ROAD" BACK
NEW YORK (AP)—"Tobacco Road," a surprise runaway hit on Broadway 14 years ago, is being primed for revival. The production is to be under the supervision of Jack Kirkland who originally adapted the Erskine Caldwell novel for the stage. James Barton, who played Jeeter Lester for a long spell in the original, is being sought for the new engagement.

The play opened Dec. 4, 1944, and amassed a run of 3,182 performances, a record exceeded on Broadway only by "Life With Father."

LEWISTOWN GREETED ITS 'JUNIOR MISS'

LEWISTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Pretty 17-year-old Judi Humphrey, bubbling with excitement at being chosen America's Junior Miss Saturday at Mobile, Ala., received the keys to the city from Burgess John J. Lawler.

She was a guest of honor at a reception held in Lewistown High School's auditorium.

A snow storm forced postponement of a parade which townspeople arranged to show Judi how much they appreciated her winning the national title.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, which sponsored Judi in the statewide pageant last November, said it will stage the parade later, possibly Saturday.

Judi, a senior honor student at Lewistown High, was greeted by officials, including Burgess Lawler and Harrisburg Mayor Nolan F. Ziegler, on arriving from the south by airplane at Harrisburg. She then joined a motorcade to Lewistown.

Says Nations Must Give Sovereignty

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee says there is no insurance against a war that will wreck civilization unless nations sacrifice some of their sovereignty for a world government.

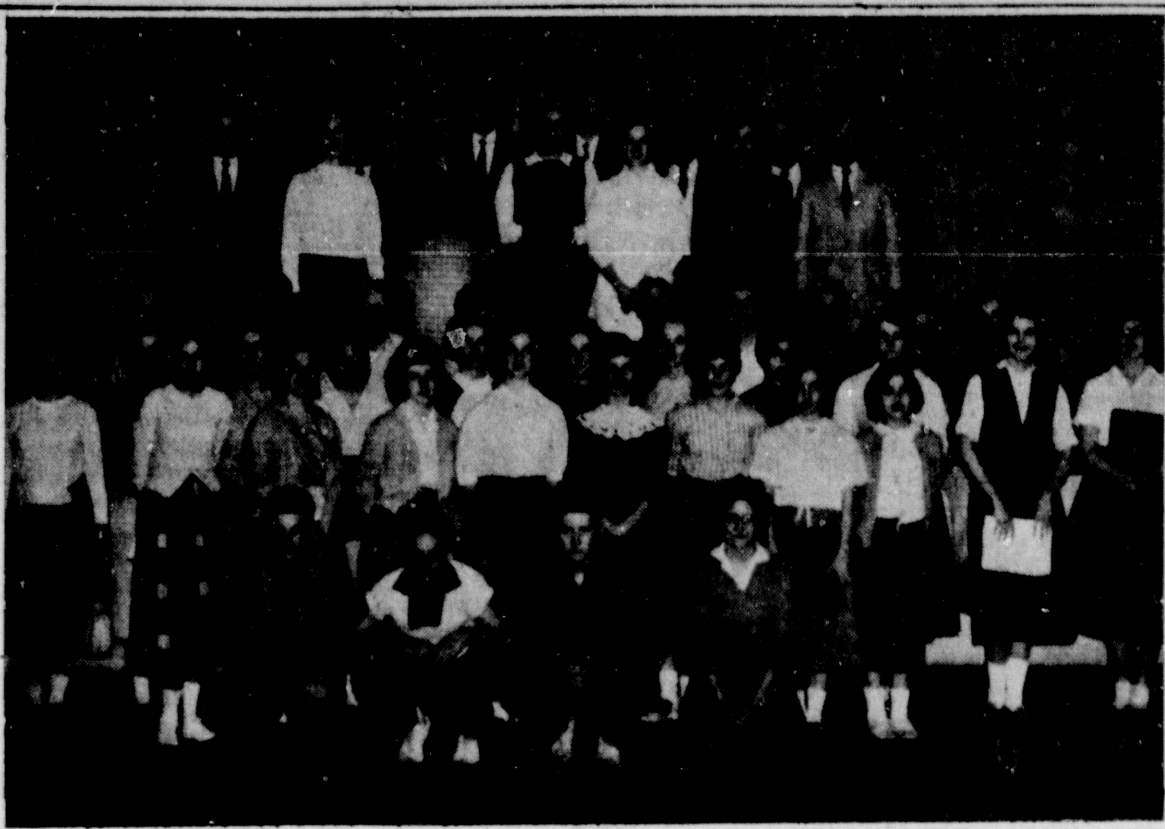

The 76-year-old Laborite told the Foreign Policy Assn. Wednesday night that "We live so closely packed together in the world that we cannot afford to have states without any authority over them but their own."

Attlee said the U.N. has failed because member nations have refused to yield any of their individual rights.

OPPOSITION TO BETTING BILLS MOUNT

By RICHARD L. GRAVES

HARRISBURG (AP) — Opposition mounted today against legislation aimed at the eventual legalization of horse race betting in Mitchell Goldman on a charge of gambling. Goldman convicted the 27-year-old Negro and found out he had three previous dicing convictions. Jackson also had a pair of dice.

"You want to roll for the time?" asked the judge. "No, sir," said Jackson.

"I'll roll for you," said Goldman, rattling the dice. "H'mm—an ace and a deuce. Three. Thirty days."

Pennsylvania.

The Pennsylvania Council of Churches reported it has started a grass roots campaign across the state aimed at short circuiting bills before the Legislature that would lead to pari-mutuel wagering.

At the same time key Senate lawmakers voiced opposition to the legislation.

No Veto Threat

The actions came after Gov. Lawrence reaffirmed Wednesday he would sign into a law a bill calling for a voter's referendum on the question of horse race betting, if the measure passes the Legislature.

The issue came to a head in the Senate Monday when a bill was introduced calling for a referendum on the question:

"Do you favor horse racing with legal wagering within the Commonwealth?"

A similar bill passed the Senate in 1957, but died in a House committee after former Gov.

George M. Leader said he would veto it.

On "Moral Grounds"

"Whether a referendum could accurately determine the sentiment of the people on this issue is questionable," declared Sen. James S. Berger, Senate Republican floor leader.

"That is because the advantages in resources would be with the advocates of pari-mutuel betting," Berger contended. He said he would oppose the bill, should it be reported from committee, as he did in 1957.

Sen. Robert Fleming (R-Allentown), GOP caucus chairman, said he opposes the measure on "moral" grounds. He said he would vote against legal betting even if a referendum showed voter sentiment in favor of such a law.

Employment in industry in Germany has risen by more than one-third since 1950. In Italy and France agriculture remains a major employment field.

SARNOFF ASKS FOR PULITZER AWARDS FOR TV

By CHARLES MERCER
AP Radio-TV Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Sarnoff, board chairman of the National Broadcasting Co., proposes that the scope of Pulitzer Prizes be expanded to include television.

Sarnoff said in part: "I believe television's ability to attract the finest creative talent would be increased if it were possible for a TV drama to win America's most universally respected mark of creative excellence, a Pulitzer Prize."

Electronic Journalism

"I further believe Pulitzer recognition could do much to stimulate electronic journalism—a form of journalism which is now within the province of Mr. Pulitzer's heirs and of many other distinguished American publishers."

It strikes me, personally, that Sarnoff views the Pulitzers from a slightly different angle than what I take to be the view of the board that awards them.

Trying to read anyone's mind is risky, but I gather Sarnoff views the prizes as a stimulus to creative talent. The board, on the other hand, views its prizes as awards for specific pieces of work accomplished by a single or group talent—and if they stimulate others to excellence, so much the better.

None Around Yet

Personally, I don't believe that anyone ever tried to accomplish anything because he hoped to win a Pulitzer Prize. Surely the expectation of a Pulitzer never inspired anyone to write two lines of poetry (to name one category of awards) or to undergo the grinding labor of writing a novel (to name another). Why, then, should it lead anyone to write a television drama?

Sarnoff's argument is weakened, in my opinion, because he fails to list a dozen or more original television dramas which he considers prize material. I believe he did not because he could not. They simply didn't exist in 1953.

And I can't believe that a dozen or so outstanding originals would suddenly be produced in 1959 simply because the possibility of a Pulitzer Prize came into being.

Personally, I think it would be grand if television's best works were eligible for Pulitzer Prizes. But I doubt that it will come to pass until the industry can proudly offer 15 or 20 outstanding original dramas as proof of its maturity and vitality.

BANK BANDITS 'OLD TIMERS'

EAST MEADOW, N.Y. (AP)—Four men accused of robbing a Massapequa, N.Y., bank of $75,000 last Monday are veteran bandits, police say.

When seized Tuesday, the quartet claimed the robbery was a spur-of-the-moment operation, a means of solving their financial worries. Police were inclined to believe them because none of them had a previous criminal record.

Wednesday, authorities said, the men admitted seven other cash holdups on Long Island over the past two years—working singly and in pairs. Four of the victims were loan companies. The total loot was set at about $6,800.

Held on armed robbery charges in the Nassau County jail here are Thomas Parks, 27, a plumber; Richard Hatch, 53, a blueprint developer; William T. McHenry, 31, an unemployed insurance salesman; and Anatol Rylsky, 44, owner of a tavern, said to be the ringleader.

Helps Wife Who Tried To Kill Him

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Ernest Gurley has hired counsel for his wife, Beatrice, charged with seeking his murder.

"I love my wife," said Gurley. "And I'm going to stick by her — even if it takes everything I've got."

Gurley makes $60 a week as a truckdriver. His wife, 41, was charged Wednesday with attempted murder after allegedly admitting she tried to hire someone to shoot him to death.

"She didn't know what she was doing," Gurley said. "She needs a doctor's care."

charge.

Nancy Jean Sedlock of Erie, Mich., was sentenced by Circuit Court Judge Charles E. Miller.

She said she was with Douglas Barker, 28, and claimed Barker shot Police Chief Amos Morris of Mannington on Feb. 28. Miss Sedlock broke away from Barker and turned herself in to authorities at Frederick, Md., that same day.

Barker shot himself to death two days later when police cornered him in his home at Leaksville, N.C.

UE OFFICIALS FACE CHARGES ON CONTEMPT

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Contempt of Congress citations are being considered against two officials of the United Electrical Workers Union by a subcommittee of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

The three-member committee, probing Communist activities in western Pennsylvania, ordered a review of fiery testimony given Wednesday by Thomas Quinn of nearby Monroeville, Pa., a UE field organizer, and Atty. Frank Donner, UE general counsel of New York.

In addition, the committee called for a Justice Department probe of what it said was possible perjury on Quinn's part.

The committee action came after er Quinn denied in shouts that he ever was a member of the Communist Party. The committee noted that he had been sentenced to jail in 1951 for refusing to answer questions about whether he had ever been a Communist.

Quinn branded as a lie that the UE had been tossed out of the CIO as being Communist-infiltrated. He said the UE merely quit the CIO.

Donner heatedly charged that he was being "smeared" and that the hearings here were "nothing but a three-ring circus purely for the purpose of promoting headlines."

Also called to testify were Robert Kirkwood, business agent of UE Local 610 in Greensburg, Pa.; John W. Nelson, president of UE Local 506, Erie, Pa.; and Thomas Wright, managing editor of the national UE newspaper published in New York City.

Donner, Kirkwood, Nelson and Wright testified they had not belonged to the Communist Party since 1949. But they refused to say if they had been affiliated with the party prior to 1949.

The Day Christ Died

The sadistic guards beat Jesus and mock Him as He waits in custody for the formal sentencing. When the Sanhedrin again views Jesus, His face is gashed and swollen and the pain of His injuries is so severe that He can no longer stand erect.

5 A.M.

April 7, A.D. 30

IN THE courtyard a few timid priests came close to Jesus and asked Him an old and familiar question: "From where do you derive your power?"

Jesus did not answer. He stood tall, looking over their heads as though not seeing them. His hands His feet were spread slightly apart. Some of the priests studied Him closely now, and in all sincerity they could not see what there was in Him that attracted so many of the people.

But they were afraid that at any moment something magical would happen, like flames leaping out of the flagstones, or unheralded claps of thunder. When nothing happened, they wore expressions of disgust and said "Vah!" and walked away.

Guards Were Angry

The guards were angry because Jesus had not answered any of the questions asked by the priests. It showed lack of respect. So they asked a few questions on their own, and when no answers were forthcoming they slapped Him and repeated the questions. They took turns standing before Him, and the stinging slaps spun His head to the left and again to the right.

Then someone in the group had a more amusing idea. He got a cloth and blindfolded Jesus. The guards danced around Him, cuffing His face and smirking: "Act the prophet, please. Who is it that struck you?" They called Him cruel names. And obscene names. He tried before they did. His knees began to buckle, so they held Him up until He was strong enough to stand alone. Then they beat Him again.

Condemned To Death

They knew that they were doing nothing reprehensible because this prisoner had already been condemned to death by the Great Sanhedrin, and from experience they knew that a condemned prisoner was legitimate prey for the sadistic pleasures of the guards. So long as He was conscious at the time of stoning or strangling or crucifixion (how He would die had not yet been determined), no one would be reprimanded.

Their game continued until word came out that the high priest expected to take the prisoner to the temple shortly after dawn. So he guards got some water and used the blindfold to wipe the face of Jesus. If He was going to the temple, they did not want Him to excite the pity of the morning worshippers.

The first pale flush of pink was over the courtyard when Jesus was able to stand by Himself. The stomach blows bothered Him, because He shuffled around the fire, bent over and hobbling, and He could not seem to stand up straight.

"Sun Shinneth Already"

A Levite with temple duties stood on the highest pinnacle of the temple. He faced east and watched the morning sky come alight, its first pale greens and reds changing to yellows and bands of unbelievable pink. The clouds fused and spread over the dome of the sky until, at last, the dedicated sentinel saw the sun's first touch of light on a mountain.

He cupped his hands and called down: "The morning sun shineth already!" Far below, the ranking priest called back the ritual question: "Is the sky lit up as far as Hebron?" This was a city seventeen miles away. The Levite shaded his eyes and studied the hills to the south, and looking beyond Bethlehem he saw the reflected brightness of the walls of Hebron.

Sound Trumpets

Again he cupped his hands around his mouth and called down: "Yes!" At that moment, the daylight hours began for Jerusalem. The time was 5:44 a.m. The priest below turned and clapped his hands. In a court, several priests brought long silver trumpets to their lips and blew three mighty blasts in concert.

Jerusalem began to awaken. Inside the temple, the fifty priests who were assigned to temple duty on this day moved about silently, their bare feet slapping softly against the marble. With many others, they had assembled before dawn in the Hall of Hewn Polished Stone; these were the fortunate, chosen by lot. All duties were assigned by lot, starting with the one most desired: the daily solemn offering of incense.

The man who drew that assignment could never again draw for it. There were middle-aged priests in the group who had never been lucky enough to draw it. Some of the fifty priests then disengaged themselves from the others and went to a special room where the sacrificial lamb for this morning had been kept for four days. He had been examined carefully for blemishes before he had been found worthy of the sacrifice. Now he was examined again.

Open Temple Gates

Outside, the guards opened all the gates of the temple and the people poured in like water bursting through a dam, spreading to all the courts of the temple and cascading up and down the stairs. The men assembled in one court; the women in another. This was the time for morning prayer.

They stood, and each man began by murmuring his sins to Yahweh. Then two sections of Scripture were read, there was a sermon followed by the recitation of the Ten Commandments, and they closed with the singing of psalms.

The sacrificial lamb was given water from a golden bowl. At a signal, priests came into the altar room with the sacred utensils. The lamb was led up to the altar, and there his right forefoot was tied to his right hindfoot. Then the left side was tied. He bleated with fright when his head was forced through an iron ring in the floor. He faced west.

Kill The Lamb

At that moment, two priests solemnly vested entered the holy place and one placed incense in the burners and lit it. The other trimmed the candlestick of seven branches. At the altar, a priest with a shining knife performed the ritual of killing the lamb while another priest caught the blood in a golden bowl and sprinkled it on the altar stone.

In the Hall of Hewn Polished Stone another servant of God, followed by two assistants, took a hammer and struck a solid blow on a huge gong. As the sound reverberated, the priests and the pilgrims met and "fell down before the Lord," and blue clouds of sweet-smelling smoke rose from the holy place and hung in the morning air.

This day began with an old sacrifice. It would end with a new one.

"Confirm The Verdict" At the home of Caiaphas, members of the Sanhedrin met again. The high priest was determined to make Jesus' conviction as legal as possible before he submitted the case to the Roman procurator. This time the court would confirm its verdict in the first light of day and in the holy temple itself.

Any judge who had the slightest qualms about the possibility of Jesus' being the Messiah had only to walk over to the corner of the courtyard where He stood and look at Him. He was not Godlike. He was manlike, and currently, a poor specimen of man. His face was gashed and raw and swollen so that purple welts marked His cheekbones, and both eyes were puffed. His hands shook in the fetters and He was bent over like an old man.

No one in the group — except the one or two members who were secret Disciples of Jesus — felt any pity for Him. Pity was an emotion used with economy in that era. One felt pity for a hurt child, and sometimes for a good woman at the point of death. But in a land accustomed to endless plagues — from locusts to

LAWRENCE IS WILLING FOR COMPROMISE ON TAX PLAN

By FRED B. WALTERS

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence has expressed a willingness to compromise on his proposed tax program in the face of opposition among Democratic lawmakers to his 3½ per cent sales levy.

"I'm willing to compromise on anything agreeable," Lawrence told his weekly news conference but then hurriedly denied that he had decided definitely to back a proposed increase of ½ per cent in the sales tax, to 4 per cent.

"I don't want to be pictured as backing a 4 per cent sales tax," he said.

Lawrence said he didn't know how much a 4 per cent rate, with the automobile trade-ins and over-the-bar drinks eliminated, would bring in.

"I hope that when they knock out any tax that has been suggested by the (tax advisory) committee, that they come up with something to take its place," Lawrence said.

"My job, gentlemen, is this: I want to work out a program as close as possible to the package (committee recommendations) as possible if they can't get the package," Lawrence said.

Dissonant Japanese Music Pleasing To Western Ear

TOKYO (AP) — For more than 12 centuries, Japan's Imperial Court Orchestra has entertained kinds and knaves, princes and plotters in an unchanging ritual that was old even before the violin made its European debut.

Founded in 703 A.D., the orchestra was faithfully conserved the cream of ancient Indian and Chinese music to gain its soubriquet as the "Conservatory of the World."

Its queer harmonies and weird sounds have puzzled Western ears for centuries.

But only recently studies have shown that the 200 ancient compositions that make up the orchestra's repertory bear close similarities to the modern atonal and 12-tone music of Schoenberg, Berg and Hindemith and may have influenced Debussy at an earlier time.

Family Affair

During its long history, the orchestra has been manned only by members of its founding families — except for one musician in the group's present 25 members and seven trainees.

Its instruments have been exact replicas of the original ones imported from China and Korea in the Seventh and Eighth Centuries.

Most of the ancient unwritten laws governing the orchestra are still in force.

All the members are male. Not a single female musician has been allowed to participate in the court orchestra during the past 1,255 years.

Ancient Flute

Five years ago, Emperor Hirohito sent his kappelmester to the court treasure house at Nara, the ancient capital in western Japan. The chief court musician, Sukehiro Shiba, 60, cleaned one original bamboo flute of its 1,200 years of dust and played the instrument.

The "A" tone of the ancient flute recorded 440 frequencies, exactly the same as the current internationally agreed concert pitch.

Shiba, direct descendant of the Korean prince who came to Japan in the Seventh Century to organize the orchestra, says: "I was overjoyed at the discovery."

The court orchestra normally has 16 instruments of eight kinds.

Fewer Instruments

"In the early days, we had many more instruments," Shiba said. "But our ancestors determined some were musically superfluous and discarded them."

Wind is represented by ryuteki, hichiriki and sho. Ryuteki is almost the same as the Western flute and hichiriki is a cross between the flageolet and piccolo.

Start Young

All the sons of court members

start learning their fathers' instruments and complex steps of ancient dancing when they grow big enough to walk.

It became compulsory for them since 1874 also to learn some Western instruments by orders of the emperor.

Until then the orchestra played only for court occasions. Then Emperor Meiji, grandfather of the present emperor, ordered the orchestra to play for the public, too, not only the ancient music but also modern Western music. He encouraged members to go to Europe to study.

"In the medieval heydays," said Shiba, "the active members of the orchestra totaled around 100."

"But some families became extinct. Some sons proved to be unfit for musical careers. Because the founding families are limited, many marriages between cousins took place. Often children of the cousins turned out to be morons — at least musically. But, strangely, such morons gave birth to geniuses — at least musically — from time to time."

FACING LIFE

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. (AP) — Mrs. Karl Hunt makes faces — for a living.

The faces are paper and paste masks which the young housewife turns out for as much as $250 each for television and movies. She began making them — mostly of public or fictional figures — after studying Greek and Roman theatrical masks in school.

SIMONE LIKES WORK AS MODEL

By DOROTHY ROE
The Associated Press

It's great to be a model, says Simone Dailencourt, France's highest-paid covergirl, now knocking 'em dead in America.

"I just got into modeling by accident," says the tall, willowy, brunette and sultry Simone. "I was visiting in England, and somebody asked me if I wanted to be in a fashion show. From then on, I could hardly keep up with the requests."

In the course of her work, Simone has become one of the world's most seasoned travelers, having visited Spain, Brazil, Germany and Switzerland on photographic assignments. She arrived in New York along with half a dozen other beauties from all over the world, to lend international flavor to the new resort collection of swim suits by Jantzen.

Carried Away

"The day I arrived I had to be on a television show the same afternoon," says Simone. "and there was this sailor on the panel. Things got a little tense for a while, but I didn't really mind. I thought maybe all Americans acted this way."

It seems the sailor was overcome by the sight of the beautiful Simone in a bathing suit and started to carry her bodily from the stage. Producer and master of ceremonies rescued her, letters of apology were sent, and all ended happily.

Simone had hardly landed on American soil before offers of Hollywood screen tests began pouring in. But she is not sure she wants to be a movie actress, because —

"Actresses have to work so hard. Modeling is hectic, too, but you don't have to learn lines."

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Miss Anne Goodwin of El Paso, 28-year-old clerk-typist won the recent El Paso Herald-Post contest to guess the weight of an alligator.

She guessed 240 pounds and 2 ounces — right on the button. She said she had never ever seen the reptile.

Slugs And Washers Pays Parking Fines

MOUNT STERLING, Ky. (AP) — Police Chief Bill Frederick knows he'll find slugs and washers along with the money in parking meters. But he says a recent motorist carried things too far.

The motorist mailed back the parking-ticket envelope put on his car. Inside was a big washer instead of the 50-cent fine.

Burst Of Gunfire Signals Finale Of "Last Roundup"

HARRISON, N. Y. (AP)—A fusillade of bullets Tuesday brought down two tons of beef on the hoof — and ended Westchester County's wild West story.

It started last August, when six steers weighing about half a ton apiece broke out of a corral on the Norda Experimental Farms here.

One was shot down a few days later. The other five hung around, just out of reach, until shortly before Christmas.

Then they took off and started to roam over the county. Reports poured in from startled drivers, harassed suburban homeowners, and fearful parents.

Authorities were deluged with suggestions on how to corral the critters. The merits of tranquilizer bullets and doped hay were hotly argued. Some favored bringing in hired gunslings.

Last week somebody shot one of the steers. Then there were four.

Profane Language Irks School Heads

UNION, N.J. (AP)—Several high school students face disciplinary action because they said "hell" and "damn" during last Saturday night's presentation of the play "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

The original script of the George Kaufman-Moss Hart comedy contains those words, but student players had agreed to eliminate them for the senior class play.

They did, on Friday night.

On Saturday night, they didn't. School Principal Harry Cooke is attempting to learn if it was a deliberate slip at censorship.

Vote $48,354,000 For Space Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Space Committee Wednesday gave unanimous and speedy approval to President Eisenhower's request for another $48,354,000 to speed America's progress in space flight.

The House group under Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La.) acted on the heels of Senate passage of the bill Tuesday by a 9-10 vote.

The House committee added one minor proviso. It stipulated that before any contracts are signed under a $500,000 emergency fund authorized in the bill, the House and Senate Space committees be notified of the intent to award the contracts.

Brooks said this would allow the congressmen to keep in closer touch with what is being done on space projects by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

APPROVAL OF MRS. LUCE MAY BE DELAYED

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee may delay until after Easter approval of Clare Boothe Luce's nomination as ambassador to Brazil.

Sen. Russell B. Long (D-La.) said that some of the members want to allow time for a "cooling-off" period before acting.

He said some members are concerned because of the publication in the Latin American edition of Time magazine of an article blamed for setting off anti-American rioting in Bolivia. Mrs. Luce's husband, Henry R. Luce, is editor-in-chief of Time.

"Postpone Action" Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.), chairman of the subcommittee on Latin American affairs, said he got the committee to postpone action "for the time being until the nomination can be given further consideration."

Long said he was not disposed to oppose confirmation as "Mrs. Luce is able and talented and there is no objection to her on the part of the Brazilian government."

"But I think she ought to use some of her diplomacy on her husband's magazine," he said.

an "erroneous impression was created in many parts of the country as to the implications of the action of the House of Delegates."

About 1,500 lawyers from Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and parts of New York and Maryland are attending the conference.

DENIES ATTACK ON HIGH COURT

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—Ross L. Malone, president of the American Bar Assn., Wednesday labeled "wholly unjustified and contrary to fact" charges that the lawyers group adopted resolutions attacking the U.S. Supreme Court.

Malone said resolutions approved by the association's House of Delegates in Chicago last month were an expression of concern as to the threat of communism to our internal security and a request for legislation in five specific areas to "strengthen our internal security by remedying defects in legislation which was pointed out in Supreme Court decisions."

"Erroneous Impression" He also said the resolutions, read objectively, are a "recognition of the position of the Supreme Court of the United States as the final guardian of our individual liberties, and of the obligation of the bar to defend the courts."

Malone, in a prepared speech, told delegates to the three-day Ohio Valley regional conference of the American Bar Assn. that

Ike Says Those Who Ask More Spending For Defense Should Demand Higher Tax

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Wednesday those advocating greater defense spending should have the courage to demand higher taxes.

And, at a news conference, Eisenhower repeated several times that he believes the nation's defense program is adequate to deal with the situation.

With much emphasis, he cautioned against letting the Soviet Union lure the Western Allies into a ground war in Europe.

Would Be Miscalculated
Such a war would be a miscalculation on the part of the Allies in the light of Russia's great manpower reserves, he said.

Eisenhower advanced these views in standing pat on Defense Department plans to cut back Army strength from the current 900,000 men to 870,000, and to trim the Marine level by 25,000 men to a new total of 175,000.

He said he can't see anything small about an Army of 870,000 men, and that he doesn't see anything in the planned reduction to get hysterical about.

Not Ruling Nuclear War Out
In response to a question, Eisenhower said he was not ruling out the possibility of a nuclear war over Berlin.

He went on to say, however, that he does not see how such a war would free anyone—apparently meaning he doesn't see how anyone could come out a winner.

WASHN, add ike-rndp, 171:
And the President said again, as he has before, that if hostilities are started over Berlin, it will be the Soviet Union, and not the Western Allies, starting them.

20-Minute Session
Much of the President's 20-minute session with reporters was taken up by discussion of the defense picture and the Berlin crisis. This was the eighth regular weekly news conference in a row, tying a mark he set in 1954.

The consecutive string this year adds up to nine and a record if the President's Jan. 14 session with newsmen at the National Press Club is counted.

Wednesday's session touched also on these matters:

KHRUSHCHEV — Eisenhower said that he doesn't think much of Soviet Premier Khrushchev's proposal that Russia and the Western Allies station token military forces in West Berlin.

Eisenhower prefaced that remark by saying he was violating everything he had said earlier regarding the Berlin situation. He apparently was alluding to earlier remarks that the United States always consulted with its allies before expressing an opinion regarding Soviet proposals.

At one point, Eisenhower referred to Khrushchev's proposals as the Premier's wisecracks or whatever he calls them. He said he (Eisenhower) could not be expected to react instantly to wisecracks.

JOB BENEFITS — The administration is waiting for the various state legislatures to convene, in order to find out what the states intend to do about extension of emergency unemployment benefits.

Eisenhower said he regards the problem of providing for the unemployed as a state responsibility, but that his mind is not closed to the possibility of adjustment. He was talking about the possibility of continued federal participation in a temporary program of benefits which was put into effect last year. That temporary program expires at the end of this month.

ECONOMY — A newsmen, asking Eisenhower's comment, said some economists believe the automobile and steel industries are keeping their prices up deliberately, even though demand for their products is down, resulting in a sort of administered inflation.

The President replied that it is a matter he did not care to discuss off the cuff—that he would want to confer with his economic advisers.

SPENDING — Eisenhower said a balanced budget is a vital part of national security. He made that remark when asked whether he might be willing to spend more money for defense if more federal revenue was available.

With some show of irritation, Eisenhower went on to say he is tired of talk of having either a balanced budget or adequate national security. A balanced budget, he added, is a vital part of such security.

Suppose, Eisenhower theorized, defense spending should go up 5, 7 or 10 billion dollars. That means, he said, we would have a garrison state.

It was at that point that Eisenhower said somewhat heatedly that he doesn't see any of those calling for greater defense spending coupling it with a demand for higher taxes.

Why, he inquired, don't they have the courage to call for a tax rise?

SOVIET STRATEGY — A reporter said Eisenhower had been quoted as telling congressional leaders last week that he believes Soviet strategy is to try to induce the United States to spend itself into bankruptcy.

Eisenhower replied that he does not think that is applicable to the current Berlin situation. But as for the long run picture, the President said it isn't necessary to quote him — you can quote the Communists.

They know, he said, that the free enterprise system can't endure without being solvent.

Some Students Opposing Graham

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)

Advertisements for a revival meeting Billy Graham will hold at Melbourne University Friday were removed during the night.

Organizers of the American evangelist's local crusade said some of the students are opposed to the meeting.

Graham winds up his crusade in Melbourne Sunday and will take a two-week holiday on the Queensland coast.

HAWAII — As to the prospects of Hawaii's becoming the 50th state, Eisenhower recalled that in his January State of the Union message he expressed the hope that Congress would act promptly on statehood for Hawaii. Legislation is about ready for action in both the House and Senate.

JET PLANES — The President said he never has wanted a jet transport plane for his own use—and he has some doubt as to whether he ever will ride in one.

He came out with that when a newsmen asked whether it wouldn't be better to spend more money for defense manpower than to meet the cost of a new jet plane ordered for the White House.

Eisenhower shot back that he some months ago authorized purchase of two or three jet planes for use by government officials, and not for his exclusive use.

One reason he doubts whether he will ever use one of the jets himself, he said, is the scarcity of airports in this country capable of handling such aircraft. They require longer runways than propeller-driven planes.

McELROY — For the second week in a row, Eisenhower warmly praised Secretary of Defense McElroy. He did so when a reporter asked whether the President feels there has been some diminution in the prestige of the secretary. The reporter raised a question of whether the secretary of defense has to take orders from the White House and the State Department.

Eisenhower replied that he respects McElroy, believes in his judgment and admires him. If he thought for one minute that McElroy was just a yes man he wouldn't stay on in that job, Eisenhower said.

CONGRESS — Reporter May Craig, representing Maine newspapers, asked Eisenhower where he gets the authority, as she put it, to thwart the will of Congress in providing for national security. Mrs. Craig said she was speaking of decisions by the President against spending in some instances of funds voted for defense. Forcefully, Eisenhower replied that he never deliberately thwarts the will of Congress. But in some cases, he added, he believes Congress is wrong and he acts accordingly.

The three were driving to their homes in Nescopeck, Luzerne County, when their car skidded part way off Route 11 four miles from this Columbia County community.

They had tried unsuccessfully to hail a passing truck, police said, and were sitting in their car when a cattle truck slammed into them.

Dead was Mrs. Samuel Creveling, 53. Injured, but reported in satisfactory condition were Mrs. Ella Eyer, 30, and Miss Geraldine Creveling, 24.

The President touched off a round of laughter when he remarked that if more military manpower than he wanted should be provided, then he would just have to put the personnel in some

MICHIGAN AT FINANCIAL CRISIS TODAY

By ROGER LANE

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The hour of decision was at hand in the state Legislature today for Michigan's next-to-last chance to avert a financial crack up about May 1.

The fate of a 50-million-dollar state borrowing proposal rested with 22 Republican senators, who vowed late Wednesday to kill it but at the last minute stayed action overnight.

Almost prayerfully, Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams appealed to the GOP senators to "find it in their hearts to endorse (this) solution."

Opposition Caved In
After nine weeks of inter-party feuding, Republican House opposition caved in Wednesday to the proposal that twice before had been rejected. The House passed it 84-19 on a third try.

If the Senate concurs, the plan will place where they would be out of the way.

was to be hustled into the election machinery for final acceptance or rejection by voters in April 6 balloting.

The referendum was required because of Michigan's $250,000 constitution debt ceiling on issuance of bonds. If the borrowing plan failed, the only hope was liquidation of the 50-million-dollar veterans trust fund set up in 1946.

110 Million Short
Michigan's general fund deficit is expected to hit 110 million dollars by June 30. Nearly half that amount must be raised to stave off disaster until a new tax program can be enacted.

If and when collapse day comes, regular payments will stop to state mental hospital attendants, prison guards and university professors. Aged pensioners, poor relief clients and state suppliers will have their checks cut off.

MARY BOLAND BETTER
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mary Boland, veteran stage and screen comedienne, was reported resting well today after undergoing surgery in Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital.

The 74-year-old actress was operated on Wednesday to halt an abdominal hemorrhage. Her doctor described her condition as "very satisfactory."

ARCHAEOLOGY WORK AIDED BY PIPE LINE

By FRANK C. STUART
SANTA FE, N. M. (AP)—When scientists want to move swiftly, they can and do.

Because they did eight years ago, historians today have evidence of what life was like thousands of years ago from 1,325 sites in the Southwest and a new way of looking into the past: pipeline archaeology.

It all started when the El Paso Natural Gas Co. announced in 1950 that it planned a pipeline across the Navaho Indian Reservation. Southwestern archaeologists were alarmed, for the proposed line would cross one of the richest archaeological fields in North America.

One professional concerned was Dr. Jesse L. Nausbaum, consulting archaeologist for the Department of Interior and senior archaeologist for the National Park Service here. He also is responsible for enforcement of the Act for Preservation of American Antiquities, a federal law that makes it a misdemeanor to injure or destroy prehistoric ruins or objects of antiquity on federal lands.

Aims Blended
Nausbaum sat down with officials of the El Paso company and formed a plan that blended the seemingly conflicting objectives of industry and science. That was the start of pipeline archaeology and here's how it worked:

El Paso Gas offered to employ five archaeologists for the duration of the project, furnish them with a jeep, and pay for any additional labor needed to excavate significant sites imperiled by right-of-way construction.

Since the company was ready to begin digging immediately, Dr. Nausbaum hastily rounded up an archaeological team and the techniques of pipeline archaeology came into being on the run.

The first step was to make a surface survey of all endangered known sites within the pipeline right-of-way. Promising ones were tested or trenched, but only important sites underwent complete excavation.

Riding And Tying
To maintain a safe working distance between themselves and El Paso's pipeline construction gangs, each comprising about 250 men and 1,000 tons of self-propelled equipment, the archaeologists took to "riding and tying," cowboy fashion. While one member of the team walked the right-of-way, the second member would drive ahead one mile in a jeep and park. When the first man arrived at the vehicle, the two would exchange places and repeat the procedure. In this way, 10 to 12 miles of right-of-way could be inspected between sunrise and dusk.

On several occasions, however, the safety gap narrowed to such a degree that diggers found themselves working within sight of the advancing bulldozers. One site had to be excavated at night under the illumination of car lights. It was a standing joke in the archaeologists' camp that if they didn't adhere to their schedule, they'd become archaeological material themselves.

The thrill of searching for the remains of prehistoric man is contagious. Before long, some of the dozer operators were nearly as keen as locating likely sites as the professionals.

Set Precedent
A total of 146 sites were discovered that first summer, 52 in New Mexico and 94 in Arizona. The earliest artifacts recovered dated from 4000 B. C.

Much more important, however, the precedent established by El Paso Natural Gas Co. Since the inauguration of pipeline archaeology, Dr. Nausbaum has arranged and generally supervised archaeological salvage operations on 12 different pipeline projects totalling 6,665 miles of right-of-way. The 39 archaeologists employed on these projects have to this time rescued for science and posterity the archaeological values of 1,315 sites that would otherwise have been destroyed. And the same principle is now being applied to road construction.

WYATT EARP'S
EARLY JAIL
IS RESTORED
By FRANK TIFFANY
WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—A bit of the Old West — so real that you can get yourself tossed into the genuine Wyatt Earp jail—has been restored here.

The arch over the entrance welcomes you to Cowtown. Like the busy city that has grown where that famed early day marshal once kept things orderly with a fast six-gun, Cowtown still is growing.

This year the civic-minded business and professional men and women who formed Historic Wichita, Inc., to keep pioneer relics and spirit alive are in clover. The city, after two budget-squeezing years, voted $15,000 for maintenance and a caretaker, so private funds can go into Cowtown's expansion.

R. M. Long, newspaper editor, currently is Historic Wichita's president. Long's devotion to Cowtown has deep roots. He is managing editor of The Wichita Eagle, still the property of the Murdock family that ran it when Cowtown was all there was to Wichita in the 1870s.

Son Of Col. Marsh
Marcellus Murdock, present Eagle publisher, is a son of Col. Marsh Murdock, the Eagle's founder in 1872. And Col. Marsh is a familiar character to most of the nation's small fry, in the current television series, "The Life and Legend of Wyatt Earp."

The Wyatt Earp jail is the centerpiece of Cowtown, which occupies a virgin flat of grass and dirt streets on the bank of the Big Arkansas River five minutes by auto from the main business district.

The small, wooden structure bears a bronze nameplate dedicated to the famed marshal. The plaque wasn't there, of course, when Earp used the jail as a sobering-up station for boisterous cowhands at the "pay day and whisky" end of the old Chisholm Trail.

It was restored with minor repairs here and there, after serving as a coal house through the years until Historic Wichita found it, bought it, and moved it to its present site and glory.

First School
Across the street is the Munger House, first home built in Wichita 87 years ago. Nearby are other rough frame buildings — the first volunteer fire station; the first school, a one-room, sod-roofed, dirt-floored structure; a drug store; and the first railroad station, hard benches and all.

Each is furnished with authentic antiques. Most furniture and fittings were donated by descendants of Wichita pioneers.

With Long and his associates—businessmen, doctors, ministers, former city officials and a former Kansas governor, Wichita attorney Payne Ratner — it has been a labor of love.

A sustaining membership in Historic Wichita costs $5, a life membership $100. Every penny goes into Cowtown's improvement.

Last May, wives of members combed the city and staged a

Since opened to the public, Cowtown has drawn thousands of visitors. Girl Scouts, active in community service, serve as volunteer guides. For visitors there is a souvenir pamphlet, telling the city's history in word and picture.

Wednesday in U.S. Middle District Court.

The suit, filed by Solomon Hurwitz and Irwin Benjamin, Harrisburg attorneys representing the estate of Isadora Cooper, is directed against Samuel Berman, Milton.

The complaint states that Mrs. Cooper, 56, was a passenger in a car operated by Berman Nov. 4 when it collided with a truck near Lewisburg.

BARROW, Alaska (AP)—A flying missionary and his Eskimo companion were plucked from the arctic wilderness Tuesday after surviving 40-below zero blasts in a tent sewn by the minister's wife.

The Rev. John Chambers, 29, former Scotia, N.Y., clergyman who now serves the Presbyterian mission here, and Jesse Ahguk appeared in good condition despite their 24-hour ordeal. They were picked up by bush pilots beside their downed plane and flown to the village of Umiat.

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP) — Henry Fuentes, 31, held on charges of wearing a bogus U.S. Army uniform, was released from city jail for lack of evidence.

Police said that Fuentes proved his claim that the uniform of a lieutenant, complete down to campaign ribbons, was given to him by a Salvation Army unit.

NANALMO, B. C. (AP) — The city council has decided to modify its anti-noise bylaw, for fear it would frighten away potential industry.

Chambers is a native of Mifflinburg, Pa.

THE SOUTHWEST — Magic Circle Area of the Week
National Monuments are Highlights of Sunland Tour

(By EDWARD COLLIER)

The violence of conquest and the savage beauty of nature are recorded for all to see in the ruggedly tinted sunland of eastern Arizona and western New Mexico.

Excellent highways have opened the Southwest's back doors of hidden history and weird caprices of nature; the government has preserved and protected these legacies through more than two dozen national monuments, best described as national parks in miniature.

We worked out the Magic Circle tour that took us, during a spring vacation, from the Mexican border through a desert carpeted with yellow, purple and red blossoms to the land of the Apaches, prehistoric cliff dwellings, forests of stone, landmarks of the Spanish conquistadors and modern Indian pueblos.

Stone Fantasies
First objective north of Douglas, Arizona, was Chiricahua National Monument, whose formations open up a world of fantasy and unreality. Your introduction into this wonderland of rocks comes with startling suddenness. For miles (State 181) the road has followed a valley dotted by cattle ranches.

For striking photos, allow time to follow some of the well-marked foot and horseback trails to get close-ups of such freaks in stone as the Duck, Thor's Hammer, Punch and Judy, Totem Pole and hundreds more that you will give names of your own. It adds up to a wonderful family guessing game.

The scene is peaceful and pastoral when you turn northwest at Safford (U.S. 70) through the Gila River Valley's fields of cotton, alfalfa and grain. Warm sunlight floods the land, turning the snow-crested top of Mt. Graham a misty blue.

Proud Apaches
Indian wickiups, circular houses built of sticks, tell you when the highway starts through San Carlos Reservation, home of the peaceful, proud Apaches. Educated and group owners of the largest cattle ranches in America, these are a friendly people, but will resent your trying to "steal" a photo or movie shot.

Your first impression of Globe, set in a desert mountain cup, belies its rip-roaring history that started when a huge sphere of pure silver ore was found in the 1870's to launch it as a famous mining camp. Later, the discovery of copper gave it continuing prosperity. Now they are prospecting for uranium.

There is a fascinating side trip from Globe up the old Apache Trail, now paved (State 88), to Tonto National Monument. Under a natural arch in the face of a canyon wall are two well-preserved cliff dwellings. A switch-back trail with markers placed by the National Park Service to identify the rock formations and plant life leads up to the prehistoric ruins. After examining the creative handwork of a people who built and then deserted these apartments nearly 600 years ago, you also have the reward of sweeping vistas of a jagged, cacti-studded land that leads down to the deep blue waters of Lake Roosevelt.

Excellent highways have opened the Southwest's back doors to vast scenic and historic wonders. The Magic Circle leads to Chiricahua National Monument, a weird land of stone effigies; San Carlos Indian Reservation; prehistoric cliff dwellings at Tonto National Monument; Petrified Forest National Monument; Gallup, the Indian Capital; Zuni Pueblo; El Morro National Monument, where Spanish conquistadors left their names on Inscription Rock; Acoma Pueblo, the sky city; Elephant Butte Reservoir, a favorite water playground; Silver City, where pack trips can be taken to Gila Cliff Dwellings National Monument.

There is a pine-scented sample of Arizona's beautiful White Mountains area around the town of Show Low before the road turns north (State 77) through Snowflake. Just before reaching Holbrook and transcontinental route U. S. 66, you turn east for the 10 miles to one of nature's all-time attractions, Petrified Forest National Monument.

Weird Forest
Nowhere in the world is there a forest like this one; your impression is one of unreality, desolation — as if some prehistoric giant had haphazardly felled all of the trees, and they had turned to stone. At second glance you are struck by the full spectrum of rainbow colors that are present in every fragment, branch or trunk.

The full beauty and radiance of the Petrified Forest specimens is best seen where a cross section of a log has been exposed to polishing by wind and sand over the centuries.

The favorite camera subjects of my boys were Newspaper Rock, where prehistoric men scribbled their news and pictures on a protected sandstone wall; Agate Bridge, a 11-foot long petrified log that spans a 40-foot ravine; and Old Faithful log, a giant that fell millions of years ago when this was a teeming tropic jungle.

the Navajos still remember it was Carson who defeated and drove them out of Canyon de Chelly in 1863. We took three wrong side roads before the Spanish-American wife of one of the shepherds gave us the proper directions. Signs erected by the state have a habit of disappearing as rapidly as they are put up.

Kit's Cave

Your first view of the cave where Carson held the Navajos at bay for two weeks is a thrilling one. As you drive over a hill the huge gap in the face of a red and yellow cliff is awesome in size, even a half-mile distant. From the arched entrance the cave runs not only back but up into the mountain at a 45-degree angle. At the 300-foot interior summit there is a natural stone parapet with room for just one or two men. Beside it is a pool of fresh water fed by a spring dripping from the roof — a perfect set-up for a one-man defensive army.

Our Magic Circle curved south (State 32) from Gallup to the Zuni Indian Reservation and its famed pueblo, huddled in the shadow of Thunder Mountain. Green fields stretch out from the pueblo, the same as they did when the first of the Spanish conquistadors came this way more than four centuries ago. Visitors come from afar in early December for the annual Shalako Ceremonies, a four-day ritual in which divine messengers from the Zunis' gods arrive to bless houses and bring good fortune. These are the only masked dances which are open to the public in any of the New Mexico pueblos.

From the Zuni Reservation we drove east (State 53) to Inscription Rock, protected by the National Park Service since 1906 as El Morro National Monument.

Through the pass at the left of this giant stone mountain has passed the tide of empire, a landmark first for the Indians, then for the Spanish and finally for scouts, explorers, wagon trains and the U. S. Cavalry as they journeyed to the southwest from Santa Fe.

Man's instinct to leave his name on public places is of great historic value here. Near a pool of fresh water at the base of the cliff the sheer walls bear the carved inscriptions that began on April 16, 1605 — before Jamestown was founded or the Pilgrims had landed — when General Don Juan de Onate and his men were returning after a fruitless trip to the Gulf of California in search of pearls. General Don Diego de Vargas recorded here that he had "... conquered to our Holy Faith and to the Royal Crown all of the New Mexico at his expense, year of 1692."

Sky City

After rejoining U. S. 66 at Grants, a uranium boom town, the next side trip (State 23) into another world is to Acoma, "pueblo in the sky" located on a giant rock mesa rising 400 feet above the plains below. Only a few Indian families live at the old pueblo, where there is a beautiful 17th century mission church; the rest return to their sky city from the farming settlements on the surrounding plains at fiesta time in September.

Three miles away is a mountain of mystery called Enchanted Mesa. Here, according to Acoma legend, there was once a great pueblo which was abandoned when a violent storm destroyed the only path up to its summit. From Acoma the Magic Circle curves south (State 6 and U.S. 85) down the Rio Grande Valley to Elephant Butte Reservoir. The

DELAY ACTION ON PROJECT TO DIVERT RIVER

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State Forests and Waters Department is working on terms of a contract for diverting the Susquehanna River around a breach in the Knox Coal Co. mine at Port Griffith, Luzerne County.

The department delayed awarding the contract Tuesday pending re-evaluation of the project. The only bidder was the No. 1 Contracting Corp., West Pittston, at $481,600.

A department spokesman said the bid for construction of coffer dams and a dyke was "considerably above the department's engineering estimates."

The Susquehanna burst into the mine Jan. 22 entombing 12 men. "The purpose of the dam and a 1,200-foot-long connecting dyke is to create an area over the mine break that will be free of water so that the break in the river bottom can be inspected at close hand," Secretary Maurice K. Goddard said.

The department spokesman said the bid for construction of coffer dams and a dyke was "considerably above the department's engineering estimates."
